Intensive 2-week effort to complete United Way drive

With pledges now at $4.4 per cent of the basic $400,000 goal, the Tri-Cities Area United Way campaign is continuing. There will be intensive efforts during the first two weeks of November to complete the solicitation.

The fifth weekly report meeting yesterday at the YMCA showed $377,754 received, an increase of $11,491 over the $366,262 tallied a week ago.

There are special reasons why gifts received now can prove decisive in moving us toward the goal," drive leaders commented.

"Division chairmen, group leaders, captains and solicitors are being asked to concentrate their efforts on the potential givers whose pledges have not yet been obtained."

"Rapid response, emphasizing fair share giving, will be essential. The goal is within sight, but the going always gets toughest when approaching the area near the goal line."

New totals by divisions announced Wednesday were:

Industrial, headed by Clyde Boyd and George Pulanas, $276,165.

Business, E. A. Karandjeff, $24,623.

Civic, Mayor Paul Schuler, $24,361.

Professional, Sister Mary Thomas, $13,113.

Commercial, Harold R. Fischer, $13,051.

Mail-telephone, Mrs. Joyce Schrader, $9,781.

Madison-Venice, Avery Schermer, $9,497.

And construction division, $6,960.

Funds newly recorded yesterday to produce those totals were, in order, $2,558, $289, $1,120, $1,257, $3,200, $213, $1,653 and $600.

The pledges made during the current campaign will be used to help provide operating funds during 1974 for the 18 member agencies, which provide a wide range of community services in the Quad Cities.

Madison board approves school improvement plan

A Madison School district plan for citizen and community involvement in local school operations—under consideration for the past several months—was approved by the Madison Board of Education in a special meeting Tuesday night.

John Palech, school superintendent, who said the plan outlines a series of steps by which public participation in planning with school authorities can lead to solution of many school problems, said the program now will be forwarded to the office of Michael Bakalia, Illinois superintendent of public instruction.

The program was required to be filed before the end of this year. Similar plans are required of school districts throughout the state.

The board also adopted a resolution in which it favors annexation of the Quad-City area to the Belleville Junior College District in the event a request for formation of a local college district is denied by the state Junior College Board.

Board members were informed that a hearing on a request by the Consolidated Aluminum Co. and Dow Chemical Co. operators and owners of the present Conalco plant in Madison and Venice, for a reduction in property tax assessments has been set for 10 a.m. Nov. 13 at the courthouse in Edwardsville.

Following the board meeting, members met with members of the Bilingual Parents School Relations Committee, which is set up under the A-160 plan, to review means of school improvements.

Ill boy not forgotten on Halloween

Although sixth grader Ricky Nelson of Granite City was not able to go trick-or-treating on Halloween, the boy was not completely overlooked by the ghosts and goblins.

Ricky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nelson, 2159 Monroe St., was hospitalized last week and underwent surgery at Belleville Memorial Hospital during the weekend.

Although he was unable to participate in the traditional Halloween activities, his classmates of Casey Krakowicki's class at McKinley School went trick-or-treating for him.

The students today brought a portion of the goodies they received last night to class to fill a big bag decorated for Ricky. Krakowicki said the bag either will be given to Ricky at the hospital or will be taken to him when he returns home.

Tax relief outlook dim

No tax relief legislation may emerge from the fall special session of the Illinois General Assembly.

A Republican move to cut the state share of the sales tax from 4 to 2½ cents on the dollar was approved 30-0 by the Senate Monday, with 29 Democrats voting present. But it has less support in the House.

Governor's proposal of a $10 a person tax rebate each year seems doomed in the Senate. A similar approach, written as an amendments veto, was killed Monday night by the Senate.

The House on Tuesday overrode votes of teacher pension funding bills involving $40 million; the Senate will consider them next.

But House Republicans were unable to override votes Monday on supplemental freeway funding, relaxed coal burning rules and reimbursement of $60 million to local-level governments.

For the past six months following the great flood of 1973, the Corps of Engineers, levee districts and dozens of contractors have joined forces to repair the massive damage to flood protection works along 300 miles of the Mississippi River from Cairo to Hannibal and along the lower 80 miles of the Illinois River.

The battle has become a race against time to restore the protection before the spring flood season comes.

Also involved is the need to complete the work before winter weather affects construction activity.

All work is high priority, for there is no assurance that last spring's floods will not repeat next spring, a spokesman said. The Mississippi River went into flood stage at St. Louis on March 11. In succeeding weeks, 39 non-federal levees were breached or over-topped, inundating thousands of acres of farmland.

Unprotected low-lying areas such as Grafton, Ill., and Ste. Genevieve, Mo., were heavily damaged.

The major part of St. Louis, protected by the floodwall, escaped damage from the high flood stage ever experienced in the Middle Mississippi River.

The only federal flood protection work which did not provide adequate protection was the levee at Kaskaskia island near Chester, Ill., which was originally built in 1942 and had not been constructed to the current higher Corps standards.

Damages prevented by federally-constructed flood

CHOUTEAU ISLAND LEVEE REPAIR work is in progress, under contracts supervised by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers St. Louis District.

The protective structures are intended to withstand potential future flood threats to the island.

Concern over Bid problems on next spring's river level protection in the St. Louis District are estimated at $14.2 billion. The City of St. Louis floodwall alone prevented damages estimated at $443 million—more than four times the cost of the project.

In contrast to the success of the much more formidable federal flood protection works, damages primarily to small levees constructed by local interests along the banks of the Mississippi and Illinois Rivers are massive, considering the limited time available to effect repairs.

Numerous breaches, or breaks, have occurred in most of the private levee systems.

Fifty levee breaks have already been repaired and work is in progress on 122 more. If the weather permits, all remedial work will be completed by the end of the year.

The Corps has established priorities for the work—based on acreage of farmlands, homes and other property to be protected, and the danger to human life.

In the meantime, the rivers work which is far over the state estimate for the project.

A proposed Granite City street improvement program, called the "Traffic Operation Program to Increase Capacity and Safety (TOPICS)," also received a setback at the state bid opening as no proposals were received.

While the Granite City street improvement program likely will be placed on the DOT's Nov. 11 bid calling, the latest snag to the Dobrey Slough drainage proposal just may be "the straw that broke the camel's back."

Several Dobrey residents indicated they plan to move from the slough area and end their efforts to have the interim line constructed.

The overbidding marks the third bid opening by the state on the project. The first was unsuccessful, as no bids were received, and the second was rejected when the lowest of two bids was 77 per cent over the state estimate. Tuesday's bid also is expected to be rejected as being 56 per cent over the estimate.

The state routinely rejects bids exceeding the state's engineering estimates by more than 5 per cent.

The bid opened Tuesday was from C. D. Peters Construction Co. of Granite City at $139,350, while the state estimate was $89,200.

The Peters firm was high bidder on the last bid opening with a $135,488 proposal. M. H. Wolfe & Co. was the lowest at $149,938 but the state estimate at that time was only $84,000.

The state legislature approved $150,000 for the

More surgery for burned boy

A 7-year-old Granite City boy is to undergo surgery for the third time tomorrow morning at St. Elizabeth Hospital since he was burned severely in a home accident this week.

Wiley Baker, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd (Dicie) Baker, 20 Bradley Ave., suffered third degree burns to his left leg when he apparently spilled gasoline on his trousers and walked too close to a campfire in his back yard.

Witnesses said the boy's life may have been saved by a sister, Lisa, 12, who rolled Wiley around on the ground to extinguish the flames.

The boy's father said he is uncertain what happened but he believes three or four neighborhood children started the campfire, and then opened the locked storage shed at the Baker home to get a can of gasoline to make the fire burn better.

Another Baker child, Robin, 16, was nearby but was unable to halt the tragedy from occurring.

A neighbor took Wiley to the hospital, where he underwent surgery Monday morning to open the wound and improve circulation.

A similar operation occurred yesterday morning and the third is set for tomorrow.

The boy is reported in satisfactory condition but his father said Wiley is experiencing considerable discomfort.

Robber hits drug store

An armed robber wearing a stocking mask held up Sheridan Drug Store, 2301 State St., at 8:40 p.m. Wednesday and escaped with an undetermined amount of money from the cash register.

Phil Sheridan, owner of the store, said that while he was in a back room the robber entered carrying a bag similar to those used by children for Halloween trick or treating.

The man went to the counter where he pointed a gun at Mrs. Edna Sheridan and demanded money and drugs. Mrs. Sheridan told him she knew nothing about the drugs.

The man then took the money from the cash register, cut the wires to two telephones and fled on foot.

Sheridan said it had not been determined today how much money was taken by the bandit. Mrs. Sheridan described the man as about six foot, two inches tall, weighing about 175 pounds and wearing a long Khaki Army overcoat and white gloves.

Record sales level at Laclede Steel Co.

Paul B. Akin, president and treasurer of Laclede Steel Co., announced to shareholders Monday that the board of directors of the company has declared a regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents per share, payable Nov. 3.

In a brief statement of operations, Akin reported net sales for the third quarter of 1973 of $38,605,000, as compared with $39,691,000 for the same period a year ago.

For the first nine months of this year, sales were $105,738,000, as compared to $104,140,000 for 1972.

Net earnings for the third quarter of 1973 were $1,302,000, or $1.15 per share against $620,000, or $1.52 per share for the third quarter of 1972.

President Akin indicated that sales revenues continued at record levels, and earnings for the third quarter were well above those of a year ago, but net earnings for the first nine months as a percent of sales were only 3.1 per cent. "We are confident that this sales-earnings relationship in the long term can and will be improved."

Akin noted that the domestic scrap iron and steel shortage continues to be a problem.

"As we believe that the scrap shortage in the United States will become more acute in the next few months, Laclede Steel has increased its inventory appreciably and we now have a strong raw material position," Akin related.

He concluded that steel demand in the fourth quarter will remain high, and Laclede sales will only be limited by what we can ship."

Akin reported that "since shipment in the first three quarters have been heavy, our semifinished inventories are now at lower than normal levels. Fourth quarter earnings, therefore, will be lower than those of the third quarter."

Laclede Steel's general offices are in the Equitable Building in St. Louis. It operates steel plants in Alton and Madison.

Leaf disposal made easy

Leaf disposal isn't a crisis when you make a compost, shred them with your lawn mower or spread them on your garden.

Fallen leaves quickly rot to become humus when you keep them wet and add a little fertilizer. This event occurs in bulb and rose beds just as easily as part of a compost pile.

Fine textured leaves from Chinese elms, birch, ash, little leaf lindens, and others can be used without shredding or crushing. Coarse leaves from oak, sycamore, tulip, poplar and magnolia will decompose better when shredded.

Leaves can be quickly pulverized with a lawn mower when piled in a driveway, or street. If you plan to save leaves for late season mulching these pulverized leaves seem legal suited for storage in plastic trash can liners.

After placing a thick layer of leaves on roses or around favorite shrubs, immediately water the leaves to prevent clumping. If you wish, scatter two pounds of 12-12-12 or your favorite garden fertilizer per 100 square feet of mulched area to speed up the rotting.

Pulverizing leaves on the lawn with the lawn mower will dispose of the leaves without hurting the grass. The fine particles of leaves in the grass gradually rot as rain and fertilizer combine to produce compost.

One severe frost will ruin such summer favorites as cannas, dahlias, callas, and tuberose unless promptly dug up.

Frosted tops start a rotting process that gradually progresses from the frost-killed tops into the roots or bulbs. A lengthy delay in digging risks more injury from freezing as well as the risk of insects spreading or carrying the rot organisms into the crown.

Lift the entire clump and cut off the tops at the soil line. Remove excess soil but keep enough soil on the roots to conceal most of the roots. Store the clump of soil and roots in a paper-lined basket or flat. When selecting clumps to dig, pick a single large clump of each color.

A single clump will provide several new plants next spring and conserves storage space. Let the rest of the clumps freeze in the ground and produce organic matter for next year's garden.

Progress in 'unfreezing' school funds

Illinois schools will receive more than $2 million additional federal funds for innovative education programs as a result of a decision during the weekend in U.S. District Court in Chicago.

A permanent injunction against the federal administration's impoundment of Title III National Defense Education Act funds was issued by the court.

The funds will be released in 30 days, unless the U.S. appeals the decision.

Also affected by the judgment are Missouri, Nevada, Texas, which intervened as plaintiffs in the Illinois suit. Attorney General William Scott had named a member of Supt. Michael Bakalis' legal staff as a special assistant attorney general to allow the state education office to prosecute the case.

The Illinois education office is also involved in two other impoundment suits presently in federal courts.

Illinois and nine other states have intervened in a $380 million impoundment suit brought by Pennsylvania, which claims illegal withholding of funds from Elementary-Secondary Education Act Titles I, II and III, as well as from the Vocational Education Act and the Adult Education Act. Illinois claimed share of this totals $17 million.

A second suit, brought by Illinois, Pennsylvania, Washington, Nevada and Texas, seeks $500,000 in ESEA Title V funds.

New policy for grain elevators

Under a new policy of the Illinois Department of Agriculture, grain elevator operators may be permitted to operate more than one facility under one license.

Director Robert J. Williams announced last week that the cost of elevator inspection to taxpayers, since paperwork will be reduced without sacrificing thoroughness of inspection.

Multi-facility operations will have to comply with certain criteria before they will be permitted to operate more than one elevator under a single license, according to Robert Holloway, superintendent of the department's Division of Warehouses.

The department will require operators to use centralized management and record-keeping techniques and furnish the locations of all facilities along with their capacities. It also will evaluate available rail service, commodity loan rates in the affected areas and each facility's record on previous examinations of operations.

Fire department budget hearing

A public hearing on the combined tentative budget and appropriation ordinance of the Long Lake Fire Protection District is to be held at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department Hall on Pontoon Road in Pontoon Beach.

The budget calls for expenditure of about $62,000, including a payoff for a fire truck of about $15,500, a district spokesman said. The remaining $47,000 will be used for operation of the fire department, he added.

Rotarians urge attendance at Walker meeting here

A drive is being launched by the Granite City Rotary Club to encourage fellow Rotarians from the area and the general public to attend Gov. Dan Walker's "accountability session" at 7 p.m. Tuesday at Granite City High School-North cafeteria, according to Rotary President Joseph Hassler.

At the Tuesday noon meeting of the club, Hassler announced that members would be needed to serve as ushers.

The Illinois Governor is holding a series of meetings throughout the state in which the people may tell him directly of their concerns and how they believe the state government can better serve area needs.

The Governor's visit will be sponsored by the Rotary Club, Optimist Club, Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, and the Tri-City Trades and Labor Council.

MHS normal, Rotarians told

"I am happy to say that things at the high school are getting back to normal so that our children can have a good education," Wade James, president of the Madison Rotary Club and assistant superintendent of Madison Schools, told the club at its Wednesday noon meeting in the Madison Recreation Center.

"As part of the A-150 plan for community involvement in the schools, we have a 10-member, five white and five black, Interracial Community Relations committee formed and meeting; this has and will do much for the schools."

"A similar committee has been formed among the high school students who we feel are for the most part, interested in obtaining a quality education," James concluded.

SURPRISE OF THEIR LIVES was provided last night as this Halloween pumpkin "scarecrow" portrayed by Richard Mowery, 2317 Terminal Ave., greeted "trick-or-treaters." Left to right in the foreground are Tim Callender, 13, and David Towery, six. On the porch, from the left, are John Richardson, 10, Kevin Whit, 13, Mowery and Jeffrey Mowery, seven. A similar surprise occurred as Bill McKinnon, 2816 Willow Ave., portrayed a mummy in a simulated cemetery on his lawn while his wife, Marva, played organ music in a black-light scene. (J. C. Richardson Photo)

MOUSEKETEERS? Judged among the most original costumes in the Granite City Halloween parade last night were those worn by Sheila Noel, four, as Minnie Mouse and David Noel Jr., seven, as Mickey Mouse. They live at 1811 Spruce St.

Tax bills to cost $140,000

Madison County will have to depend again next year upon a contract with a private data processing firm to prepare 1973 tax bills for collections in 1974—at a cost of approximately $140,000.

The County Board's Central Services Committee is expected to ask the board in its Nov. 21 meeting to approve a contract with the Cole-Layer-Trumble

Co. of Dayton, Ohio, which prepared Madison County tax bills for this year's collection.

The committee reported earlier this week that the county has no choice since its three-man data processing department would not be able to print the 1973 bills because of the time required to transfer all the needed information onto data processing tapes.

Party for Legion Auxiliary

Hay stacks, corn stalks, pumpkins, squash and gourds decorated the Tri-City Post 113 American Legion Hall, 1825 State St., for the auxiliary's Halloween party and dinner.

Table centerpieces were arrangements of yellow and orange "mums and orange candles."

Mrs. Bonnie Jacob, president, conducted the business session. She announced a Veteran's Day parade is planned Nov. 11 in Edwardsville.

Also noted was a change in date to Dec. 29 for the auxiliary's Christmas party, due to Post 113 hosting a county meeting Dec. 19. Plans were reported for a series of fish fries each Friday from noon to 7 p.m. at the Legion Hall.

member, was welcomed. Two guests introduced were Mrs. Helen Rickert, 22nd District auxiliary president and Mrs. Ruby Vanover, secretary.

Mrs. Rickert, a member of Dupu Legion Auxiliary 485, addressed the group on the topic "Concerned Citizens and Auxiliary Members."

She reviewed conditions and changes taking place at the Illinois Soldiers, Sailors and Children's School at Normal and how they are affecting operations at the facility.

Both visiting officers were presented a gift during the social hour and refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Betty Winters, Mrs. Mildred Rees and Mrs. Dolores Wells.

County faces budget problem

A reduction of $2 million in budget receipts will have to be made by departments of county government if the county is to present a balanced budget for the 1974 year, County Board Chairman Nelson Hagauer told finance officials in a meeting at Edwardsville Monday night.

The budget must be approved by the County Board in its Nov. 21 meeting and must be posted for public inspection 15 days prior to board action.

Hagauer said there is "no way" the county will have enough revenue to meet present budget requests.

Finance Committee Chairman J. J. Gramlich said the committee believed it "was in the ball park" last week, but the failure of the General Assembly to override Sen. Walker's veto of a bill reauthorizing sales tax allocations will leave the county about $1.8 million in deficit.

The county still faces sales tax receipts of about $1.8 million, but representatives of about 700 county employees.

325 Halloween paraders

The weatherman cooperated and last night's traditional Halloween parade through downtown Granite City attracted over 325 small, large and middle-size monsters, hobgoblins and assorted strange creatures, most competing for cash awards.

Judges were Sixth Ward Alderman Earl Baker, Captain Ronald Kerley of the Salvation Army, Edward Heints of the National Association of Letter Carriers and Fred Boliger of the Shrine Club.

Many of the paraders convened later outside a "haunted house" at 2333 Madison Ave., a project of Explorer Post 10-4.

Fairies waiting to enter the dwelling were entertained by an assortment of monsters coveting around a witches' fire listening to "screams of horror" audible from the house.

Mrs. Margaret Houseman, judges' senior regent, and Moose Governor Virgil Singler, assisted Brown in coordinating the parade.

each and 50 awards of 50 cents each were distributed by Moose officials.

The flashing red lights and sparkling machines of the Shrine Nobles of the Tri-City Shrine Club led the paraders along the route while Granite City police cleared traffic, keeping hazards at a minimum.

There were nearly twice as many marchers as in the 1972 event, Stan Brown, parade marshal, said.

The annual Halloween night attraction is sponsored by Granite City Moose Lodge 272 and Women of the Moose Chapter 247.

Grand prize winners were Billy Dean, Bob and Lorraine Hartzel, 4828 Warrack Ave., comprising a group of gruesome monster people, complete with coffin. The trio received a $15 savings account from Granite City Trust and Savings Bank.

Second place in the most comical category went to Karen Roter, 19, of 2433 Pine St., who appeared in a snakewoman costume.

Man wounded

Ricky Greenman, 20, of 2307 August St., was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital yesterday after having been shot in the left leg by a policeman investigating a disturbance.

An officer dispatched to that address at 4:10 p.m. to check a report said he tried to persuade a man to drop two large knives but was told that any policeman entering would be killed.

Two knife wounds were alleged as the officer was followed toward the sidewalk. The shooting followed.

Raises granted

Pontoon police

All Pontoon Beach village policemen were granted 5 percent across-the-board pay raises by the Pontoon Beach Village Board during a special meeting last night. The board also granted an additional 2 percent merit raise to Patrolman J. D. Smith for outstanding services. Smith was named temporary acting chief while Chief Raymond Bennett, Jr. is ill.

The resignation of Officer John Nolan was accepted after the board is seeking a new policeman to fill the vacancy. Nolan has been on the force eight years.

Hockey dance Friday

The Granite City Amateur Hockey Association will hold its first annual hockey dance at 9 p.m. tomorrow at Croatian Hall, 1000 Madison Ave., Madison.

A $10-per-couple cover charge will include setups, food and music by the "Keynotes." Prizes are to be awarded. Tickets may be purchased at the door or from any member of the association.

Circle convenes in new church parlors

Patience Circle met Tuesday night in the new parlors at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church. Members quitted in the morning and had lunch in the Parlor Room at noon.

Mrs. Clara Sotloff was in charge of the business meeting. Planning was continued for the Dec. 7 church bazaar and to attend the Church Women United's World Community Day program at 9:30 a.m. Friday at Venice Community Center.

"The Therapy of Thankfulness" by Norman Vincent Peale was the basis of a lesson presented by Mrs. Mildred Carper. A circle of prayer concluded the program.

Mrs. Eula Myers was hostess at the luncheon. Among those present were Mesdames Alice Bruce, Esther Langolf, Olivia Lehman, Woodie Lynn, Leona Cartwright, Miss Eva Miller and those named.

KC's to aid 'life' campaign

The Knights of Columbus have launched a campaign to emphasize the sanctity of human life.

Grand Knight Dr. J. R. Vasiloff of Tri-Cities Council No. 1068 said that the Knights have placed their manpower, organization and facilities at the disposal of established pro-life groups working under the auspices of the Catholic Church and will cooperate with religious, fraternal and civic societies seeking to educate the general public on the issues involved in any public acts such as permissive abortion or euthanasia.

At the same time, he noted, the Knights are inviting Catholic men who are concerned with this problem to join the fraternal society and thus "strengthen the fight for human life."

Anyone seeking information on the Knights of Columbus or wishing to associate himself with the Knights in their campaigns is invited to call Jack Tritsch at 631-4203 or write to him at 2021 Pontoon Road.

Five-way board fight looms in Chouteau

An apparent five-way fight for the Democratic County Board nomination in Chouteau District 16 had developed today as County Clerk Eulalia Hotz prepared to open the filing period for the Madison County Board primary election on Monday.

Miss Hotz said her office will begin accepting petitions of Democrat and Republican County Board candidates when the office opens in the courthouse at Edwardsville at 9 a.m. Monday. Petitions may be filed until 5 p.m. Nov. 13.

Primary elections are to be held Feb. 12 in 14 of Madison County's 29 board districts. Five of the district elections will be held in the Quad-City area where opposition to incumbent board members is expected in three of the districts.

Five persons have obtained petitions of candidacy as Democrats in Chouteau District 16 in which the present term of Albert Doerr, South Illinois, is to expire next year.

In addition to Doerr, petition forms were obtained by County clerk's office by William Thoeke, Morris Miles and Stanley Lucas, all of Mineola, and Arno Sponeman, who lives in Chouteau Precinct Four near Mitchell.

Doerr was elected a County Board member in 1972 by defeating Walter Sparks who had served on the former county board of supervisors from Chouteau Township until the board was reorganized under the district plan. There were no Republican candidates in the 1972 election and no Republicans have yet obtained petitions in the Republican primary in that district next year.

Opposition to Louis Whitsett, incumbent board member of Nameoki District 26, a candidate for re-election also is reported. Petitions have been obtained by Edgar Patrick, now Nameoki township collector and a long-time opponent to Whitsett, and by Floyd David Moss, president of the Pontoon Beach Village Board. The Republicans are without apparent candidates in that district also.

The third Quad-City area district in which opposition to the incumbent board member is indicated is Granite City District 21. Petitions have been obtained by Carl Buehler, incumbent Democratic board member, and by Dan Partney, son of former Granite City Mayor Donald Partney.

Thus far Nelson Hagauer, incumbent board member of Granite City District 20, and William Webb of Granite City

News notes

Ferguson Mayor John Bruley, chairman of the Bi-State Development Agency, agreed Tuesday with three St. Louis aldermen to divide bus subsidy costs between St. Louis, St. Louis County and Illinois according to the length of bus routes and the origin of passenger revenue. The pact is expected to end aldermanic opposition to appropriating transit money from a half-cent sales tax increase.

James E. Terry, new general manager of the Bi-State Transit System, said yesterday he favors legislation to bar private autos from downtown areas. Calling mass transit a utility, he said the public should be willing to underwrite its costs.

Sen. William Saxbe, Ohio Republican, left a meeting with President Nixon yesterday saying he is "relatively sure" he will be appointed as U.S. attorney general.

Rep. Daniel Pierce, chairman of the Illinois House Energy Crisis Investigating Committee, said Tuesday he hopes the committee's interim report includes a recommendation for maximum highway speed limit of 50 miles an hour to conserve gasoline.

Former Vice-President Spiro Agnew yesterday paid the $10,000 fine imposed on him for income tax evasion. He also received three years of unsupervised probation and resigned from office Oct. 10.

Mrs. Carmen Moody of East St. Louis, a member of the Bi-State Development Agency board, said Wednesday she will not attend board meetings held in private clubs having racially or economically restricted membership. She did not attend a session Tuesday at the Missouri Athletic Club.

A balanced state budget is possible in 1973-74, Illinois State Chamber of Commerce panelists commented at a regional report dinner Tuesday night in Belleville.

1972 again? South—Crimson kickers clash in sectional

It was early November, 1972. A near capacity crowd poured out to Jacksonville High School Field to witness the battle for the Illinois High School Soccer Association's sectional title with the winner earning the right to advance to the state finals at Normal.

The two district champions took to the playing field and held each other scoreless for 24 minutes of the first half.

GCHS Warrior Carl Duke, on a pass from Harvey Breckner at the far right side, blasted one through the mass of Crimson defenders to Jacksonville Goalie Bill Versen.

Versen got his hands on the speeding ball but succeeded only in deflecting it into the right hand corner of the net to give the Warriors a 1-0 victory, the sectional title, and later the state championship under coach John Selmeier.

The year was 1972. Now, one year later, the two power houses again will clash at the sectional level, each having defended its respective district crown, Jacksonville downing GCHS North 2-1 and South upending Assumption 3-0.

There are four differences going into this year's meet. Warrior Carl Duke has since graduated, and has been replaced by Don Goldschmidt, who leads in scoring with 27 goals. Harvey Breckner went with GCHS-North in the school split. Gene Baker is the new leader of the defending state champions, and the battle will be held at South Field.

Crimson Soccer Coach Manuel Velasco told the Press-Record, "We want to win, of course, but Granite City is a team which deserves a lot of respect. I personally would rank them as the best in the state."

"My team is 100 per cent healthy and we have Tim Lukeman and Goalie Bill Versen with us."

The Warriors have a 17-1 record, as compared to Jacksonville's 8-3 regular season record. South lost to the New Trier East Indians 3-0 early in the season and played to a 1-1 tie with St. John's of St. Louis.

One of Jacksonville's three losses was 2-1 at the hands of South on Oct. 13.

The local team has suffered only two defeats since 1970 when it lost 2-1 at St. Mary's of St. Louis and posted a season record of 1-1-1 with Coach Tom Wyroszko, now of the GCHS-North Football Steelers, at the helm.

In 1971, with Coach Selmeier, it went undefeated with a 10-0 record and last year lost one to the Collinsville Kahoks 4-2.

Perhaps the most interesting aspect of the two meeting again is that South also downed Jacksonville in regular season competition last year before defeating them in the sectional.

The sectional winner here again will advance to Normal for the state finals against the winners of the Wheaton, Niles and Chicago Public High School sectional tournaments.

Host Wheaton Central at 10-1-1, Hinkley (Big Rock) 17-1, Quigley South 16-5-2 and Martin East 13-3, are possible contenders from the Wheaton event. In the Niles sectional it will be either Maine East with 11-3-1, New Trier-West 12-2-2 (which South defeated for the state crown last year), Lake Forest 10-8 or New Trier-East with a 14-2 record.

The semi-finalists of the Chicago sectional have yet to be announced. The 1972 state team from the windy city was Senn High School, which South defeated in the finals.

Jacksonville and Granite City will meet head-on Saturday at 11 a.m. on the South Field and it remains to be seen whether or not Warrior soccer fans can again boast, "We are number one."

Soph gridders downed

The GCHS South sophomore Warriors held the East St. Louis Flyers scoreless in the first half of play at East St. Louis Tuesday, but the host team rallied in the third quarter with one touchdown and again in the final period with two, shutting out the local team 18-0. South's defensive unit stopped the Flyers' two-point conversion runs after each TD.

Pressure on local teams as close of grid season nears

Two of the three local eleven will see action at home this weekend. GCHS South will host the Cahokia Comanches at 3 p.m. Saturday and the 97 Madison Trojans will host Francis Howell of Weldon Springs, Mo., at 2 p.m. Saturday in Madison. South is 4-3-2 overall this season and is 3-2 in league play.

The 4-3 Steelers of GCHS North will travel to Collinsville at 2:30 p.m. Friday in an attempt to keep their winning streak going.

Warrior Coach Wayne Williams told the Press-Record "We aren't completely out of the conference picture, but we must beat Cahokia to stand a remote chance of staying alive."

Explaining his reasoning, Williams noted, "If the conference leaders, Belleville West 7-0, East St. Louis 5-1-1 and some of the others lose every game remaining on their schedule and we win ours, we'll be right back into the thick of things once again."

But they must first get by rugged Cahokia this weekend. The 2-6 Comanches nearly upset the Warriors last year, leading 30-24 going into the final minute of play.

Aerial plays from Clay Winfield-to-Mike Martinez moved the line of scrimmage to the Cahokia 24 and Gary Livey ran two yards, setting the stage for a Winfield-to-Tom Schooley 22-yard TD pass with its second remaining to tie 30-30.

The tie breaker came on Brad Hiles' extra point kick to give the Warriors the victory. Ironically, Dale Williams, who received a knee injury in that game and was hospitalized, will go into this year's game against Cahokia with a sore leg, the result of an injury from the South-Collinsville game a Oct. 12. Two other players, Doug Griffith and Paul Muehl, also will see action while nursing sore legs.

Williams analyzed Cahokia as a young ball club, which lost its starters through graduation. The Comanches have a good offensive unit in its running backs, he added.

"The biggest mistake we can make," remarked the Warrior mentor, "is to think we can breeze right through a game. A good example is our game against this team (Cahokia) last year."

"We were down 30-12 going into the fourth quarter and woke up just in time to recover."

South will enter the game off to revenge a 13-7 defeat Saturday at East St. Louis and Cahokia will try to bounce back from a 36-0 licking at Jefferson City, Mo.

The Steelers of GCHS North, with a 3-4-0 season record meet the 2-5-0 Collinsville Kahoks, in what could be a close match.

Both teams have scored 115 points against their opponents thus far, but North has a slight edge in defense, having had only 108 points scored against it as compared to the Kahoks 217. Forty-four of the points against Collinsville came in a defeat at the hands of Edwardsville, a team the Steelers shutout 18-0.

North lost its first four season games and before putting it all together to win three straight—41-8 over Madison, the stunning 28-0 upset at Edwardsville and this past weekend's shutout of the Bethalto Eagles 20-0 at South Stadium.

Kahok Coach Lloyd Dunn said of the North team, "We are very impressed with the players. North has one of the best defensive lines in varsity football, and one player in particular, John McMillan, a 6'1", 230 pound senior, is the best tackle in the area."

Dunn told the Press-Record that his leading ball carrier, Bill Barrows, is out for the season with a torn ligament in his ankle and injuries have been the main factor in the Kahoks less than perfect performance since beating GCHS South last month.

North has the same problem, injury wise, with Mike Donoff still out and with Bill Carr and Rich Bohnenstiel still recovering from injuries, although both are scheduled to play.

The contrasting fact is that North has continued to win despite its problems, whereas Collinsville has been unable to snap back quickly after injuries.

Madison High Coach Al Vander Haar says his Trojans will have to play all-out football Saturday if they want to repeat last year's victory over Francis Howell of Weldon Springs.

"If we can pull (Howell) out of its six-man defense we can move the ball against it. One of its assets is a quarterback who last week threw an 80-yard TD pass."

With 10 straight losses, the Trojans can only look forward and forget about the past. Vander Haar said, and added that the players are indeed looking forward to repeating last year's victory over its Saturday opponent.

Terry in state cross-country meet Saturday

A sizzling chase for the individual title will only add fuel to the fireworks expected in the showdown between West Suburban's pole vault champion (York) and Riverside (Brookfield) in the 28th annual Illinois High School Association cross-country state final meet Saturday at Dettweiler Park at Peoria. The meet gets underway at 11 a.m. on the three-mile layout along Illinois Route 29 north of Peoria. Dwayne Terry will represent Granite City at the event.

'Y' cage leagues now being formed

With the basketball season approaching, the Tri-City Area YMCA will be sponsoring leagues for all ages with different approaches. The fourth, fifth and sixth grades may participate in the Little Y's Guys' League after school and Saturday mornings. Emphasis will be on fundamentals.

A pre-season clinic is being arranged to help coaches, managers and players to better understand the need and use of fundamental play.

The seventh and eighth grades also will have a clinic. The time of play will be determined by interest shown. Young men in high school and older will play in a three-on-three, half-court league with some variation of the rules to stimulate good play. Early evenings Mondays and Wednesdays and possibly late Saturdays and mid-Sundays afternoons will be game times.

The Huff and Puff (Over 30 yrs. old) League will be on four-on-four half-court, 20 minute "walking" halves. This league is fun-oriented for exercise and relaxation.

Team representatives, coaches and managers should notify the YMCA, 2001 Edison Ave., 876-7299, of their intentions before Nov. 12. Bill Koenig, YMCA Intramural Director, is seeking coaches and managers for the youth leagues, and referees for all the leagues.

Koenig, a former Granite City resident, has returned to work on his master's degree at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville after coaching and directing sports programs in Savannah and Hannibal, Mo., nine years.

Leagues will be scheduled rapidly and the cost will vary according to the number of participants. Parents of youth in the fourth through eighth grades who are interested are asked to call the YMCA program office 876-7299 and leave the name, address, phone, and age of the youngsters.

Schmitt to chair mat rule clinic

Warrior Mat Coach William "Red" Schmitt will be the interpreter at the Illinois High School Association IHSA Wrestling rules meeting Tuesday, Nov. 6 at 7 p.m. in the GCHS South gymnasium.

The meeting, mandatory for those intending to officiate at IHSA rules interpretations and mechanics of officiating. Attendance will be taken, and those not present will be placed on probation by the IHSA.

Schmitt, president of the National Wrestling Coaches' Association and a member of the I.H.S.A. rules committee, again will lead the Warrior when the season opens Saturday, Dec. 1 at GCHS South.

Hole-in-one on Depot links

Ray Hylker, 33 Cambridge Drive, scored a hole-in-one on a 170-yard drive with a number two iron in the recently held American Veterans of Foreign Wars golf tournament at the Granite City Army Depot.

Granite Cityans Walt Kafka and Ki Bayer teamed to capture the event which pitted 37 teams of two.

Trophies and golf balls were awarded to them at a dinner held afterwards.

Lemaster, running with a severe shin injury, took second in 14:40.

All Granite City hopes rest squarely on the shoulders of Terry, a junior at GCHS South. Terry, who finished fourth in the Alton district meet on Oct. 23, will be running fresh from a second place finish to Bethalto's Layne Law in the Illinois sectional competition held Saturday at Springfield.

Running in the shadows of Warrior Howie Bryant last year, Terry finished second and third consistently but failed to post a cross-country victory until the season opener at O'Fallon's this past September.

Since then he has broken individual, school and course records at a rate of two a month.

South Coach Dick Harmon told the Press-Record, "Terry has more initial speed than Bryant and has the ability to pour it on at the finish where it really counts."

Bryant last year placed 33rd out of more than 234 runners in the Peoria state event. He graduated last year and now competes in cross-country for Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

Defending team champion, York, seeks to become only the second team ever to post three straight titles, but the Bulldogs of York are expected to give a strong challenge. Brookfield finished second to York Oct. 20 in the conference meet by a scant two points.

Last year, York took the team title with 84 points while Arlington Heights (Hershey) was second with 164 points. The only other team to win three in a row was Paris in 1946, 1947, 1948 and 1949.

Venice sewer repair cost now $80,846

The Venice City Council— informed that the city has already spent a total of $80,846 for repairing sewer lines broken by 1973 flooding conditions— created a special flood damage sewer repair fund during a meeting Tuesday night.

The special fund will permit accounting control of expenditures for repairing broken sewer lines. The revenue received as reimbursements under the federal government's flood disaster program.

Monies have been transferred from the McKinley Bridge Revenue fund on two occasions in the amount of $23,139 and $2,907 to pay repair bills. The funds are to be replaced by reimbursements by the state and federal governments.

The council approved an additional $49,622 to be transferred from the bridge fund to the sewer repair fund to help cover additional costs.

The first payment of $10,000 was received from the federal government and placed in the new account.

According to Mayor John E. Lee, the city hopes to receive at least 50 percent of the repair costs from the government.

Repair work on the sewers is continuing, the council was told. A gasoline storage tank break sent fumes into some sewer city lines causing gas funnels to enter a few Venice homes, but not at dangerous levels, it was reported.

The city's water department has been running water through the lines in an attempt to clear the funnels.

Mayor Lee instructed the street department to continue flushing the sewers and to use exhaust fans from the fire department in an effort to clear more fumes from the lines.

On the recommendation of engineers, the council approved the expenditure of approximately $3,600 for emergency repair work to McKinley Bridge.

An expansion joint dropped two inches causing one west bound lane to be blocked off until it can be reinforced with a steel beam. Repair work is scheduled to begin today and will take two days.

The council approved the purchase of two new police cars from Merrell Chevrolet Co., St. Louis, at a price of $5,900. The cars were purchased without bidding because of an emergency situation in which one of the police cars developed trouble beyond repair and had to be replaced immediately, council members were told.

A building permit application by William Tyler to place a $4,000 mobile home at 1218 Douglas Ave. was tabled until the building inspector could inspect the unit. Council members said they feel a problem may develop if they allow used mobile homes to be placed in the city.

Mayor Lee instructed the building inspector to personally inspect the home to determine if it is in a like-new condition.

The council awarded a contract to Luster Wrecking and Excavating Service of St. Louis, which submitted a low bid of $10,625, to raze 11 old structures. The only other bid received was from Kamadaski Wrecking Co. for $23,310.

It was announced that Illinois license plates for 1974 may be available for Civilian Defense personnel if approved by the state legislature.

Alderman John Ervin reported that a delegation from Venice attended a meeting on court procedures with Judge Harold Clark last week.

Alderman Ervin said the judge was sympathetic with their problem, but that the council should arrange to meet with all the judges.

The City Council is critical of the number of dismissals and probation in criminal cases involving "repeater" violators.

City Treasurer Henry N. Baucum suggested that a deal be printed with the fire and police telephone numbers on it so that witnesses to crimes or fires could reach the departments sooner.

Chief of Police Ralph D. Dowdy said persons calling need not have to be involved. If they call quickly enough the police would be able to catch criminals in the act in many cases.

W. C. Holford dies at 71

Walter C. Holford, 71, of Rural Route Three, Marine Road, Edwardsville, died at 3:15 p.m. Tuesday in the home of his sister, Mrs. Mary Wilson of Granite City, after a long illness.

He was born in Carrollton, Ill., and lived most of his life in Edwardsville. Mr. Holford was a member of Eden United Church of Christ and Lodge 1561, Loyal Order of the Moose. He also belonged to the National Auctioneer Association and the Illinois Auctioneer Association.

Mr. Holford was a retired auctioneer and real estate broker.

His wife, Mrs. Neomi (Cook) Holford died in 1957. Other survivors include two stepdaughters, Mrs. Edward (Bethel) McQueen of Caseyville and Mrs. Dean (Justine) Hartmann of New Douglas, Ill.; seven step-grandchildren and five step-great-grandchildren. He was preceded in death by eight brothers.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Women from Catholic and non-Catholic churches in Granite City attended a "Day of Recollection" program this week at Sacred Heart Church conducted by the Rev. Elmer Mauer.

Venice students hear Bel Canto in concert

The first of three concerts scheduled this season at Venice public schools by the St. Louis Chapter of Young Audiences, Inc., was performed Tuesday morning at Venice Grade School.

The presentation by the Bel Canto Ensemble was well received by the youthful patrons. Venice administrators reported. Several parents were noted in the audience.

Similar concerts will be performed for Venice high school and elementary pupils on Dec. 4 when a folk music ensemble will be featured and on March 4 at which time the Young Audiences' Woodwinds Ensemble will appear here.

The concert series is made possible in part through a $375 grant to the Venice School District by the Illinois Arts Council, a state agency established in June 1965 by the Illinois General Assembly.

The total subsidy allows a $125 grant to finance each concert. An additional $50 subsidy per performance has been contributed to the Venice School District by the Venice-Mission Fine Arts Council, Assistant Supt. of Schools Robert N. Vickers said.

Arrangements for the music series were coordinated by S. Leonard Pas Jr., executive director of the Illinois Arts Council, and Jeanne S. Fast, executive officer of the Young Audiences Chapter, an Arts and Education Fund Agency in St. Louis, Vickers explained.

Travelers hear about primitives

At the October meeting of Travelers Abroad at Prather Junior High School Monday evening, the Rev. Mr. George Zabriske, senior canon at Christ Church Episcopal Cathedral in St. Louis, gave an illustrated talk on the Philippine Islands, where he and his family lived from 1959 to 1969.

The speaker outlined the irregular configuration of the 7,000-island archipelago and its position relative to China, Vietnam and Indonesia.

The Rev. Zabriske explained the chief ethnographic groups found in the region, placing special emphasis on isolated peoples deep in the mountainous interior which is seldom reached by tourists.

Among the groups he described are the pagan Igorots who created a sensation in the United States through their exhibition at the St. Louis World's Fair of 1904 and remained a topic of conversation throughout America for many years.

For the past 50 years, however, the minister said, the Missionary work in the Philippines has progressed, Canon Zabriske said. He showed pictures of two Christian girls whose arms still bear the pagan tattoo marks placed there by parents and a newly consecrated Episcopal bishop who was born a pagan.

Among the guests at the meeting were Mrs. Roy Achenbach, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ok Ja Achenbach, formerly of Korea, and Vasil Fryntko.

Alliance gives new look to legislature

By KEN WATSON
Copley News Service

Will the Walker-Daley truce hold up?

That's the big question mark over the Statehouse as the Illinois legislature moves on in its fall meeting.

Increasing signs of a new and friendlier relationship between Gov. Daniel Walker and Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley are adding a new look to the legislative proceedings.

If the state's two top Democrats do form a firm alliance and work together rather than as opposites, the GOP legislative leadership could be in trouble.

House Speaker W. Robert Blair and his ally in the Senate, President William C. Harris, have enjoyed an advantage in the inter-party rivalry because of the Walker-Daley split. On many a key vote in the past, Daley Democrats have either defected to the Republicans or failed to cast votes.

Now things appear to be changing. The message was loud and clear when Democrats stuck with Gov. Walker and upheld his veto of the bill that would have channeled $60 million in state money to local governments, financially pressed because of the loss of individual personal property tax revenue.

Republicans spearheaded a veto override effort, but Democrats refused to provide the three-fifths majority needed for the overturn. It was taken for granted at the Statehouse that Mayor Daley had sent "the word."

What appears to be bringing the governor and the mayor together is the sensitive mass transit issue, vague to Down-staters but of immense importance to Chicago and its sprawling suburbs where more than half the people of Illinois live—and vote.

Some sort of acceptable solution is going to have to be reached soon or the political consequences could prove disastrous. It could cost Daley re-election to a sixth-term as mayor in 1975.

Next year, it could mean a Republican triumph in Cook County elections, and could even conceivably hurt the re-election chances of heavily favored incumbent U.S. Senator Adlai Stevenson.

Most important to Walker, an RTA fiasco could shatter his image as an effective governor and virtually assure he would be only a one-term governor.

From a practical standpoint, even a Walker-Daley alliance could not in itself guarantee passage of any RTA legislation.

The Democrats don't have enough votes in the Assembly.

But by working in tandem they could exert enough pressure on Blair and Harris to bring about a compromise plan.

This could avert voter rebellion and, perhaps, enable Walker and Daley to grab the credit for any favorable solution.

But both Walker and Daley are strong and independent personalities. They are sharing an uneasy truce. The fall session may tell whether it will hold.

Bar to review death penalty

Watergate, reinstatement of the death penalty in the state and continuation of efforts for a state no-fault auto insurance law are among topics on the agenda of the Illinois State Bar Association's Assembly meeting Saturday in Chicago.

The 121-member Assembly, consisting of judges and attorneys from throughout the state, will convene as part of the two-day annual midyear meeting of the Illinois State Bar Association.

President William P. Sutter will preside over the day-long session, and will make a report to the legal group on the meaning for the legal profession of current actions by President Nixon in the Watergate tapes controversy.

A stand by Assembly members on the issue of the death penalty and discussion of future pursuit of a no-fault auto insurance law for Illinois also are on the agenda.

The Saturday session will be preceded Friday by day-long ISBA section council and committee meetings and, at 7 p.m. tomorrow by the annual Illinois Supreme Court dinner, co-sponsored by the ISBA and the Chicago Bar Association. The two bar groups together represent over 99 per cent of all Illinois judges and attorneys.

Carp's policies unchanged

Current charge accounts will be retained and new ones issued under the Carp's name, together with retention of present store personnel and basic policies, Kenneth Holtzman, general manager of the department store, said this week. The two-level family store is located at 1305 Nineteenth St.

Customer services will be updated to include BankAmericard and Shopper's Charge, as well as Master Charge, Holtzman added. Formal announcement of a change in ownership of the retail store, one of the oldest businesses in downtown Granite City, is not being stressed, the general manager indicated, "as we want our customers to realize that everything is remaining the same," he added. New merchandise is being delivered daily to augment the store's inventory and all shelves will be fully stocked in a very short time, Holtzman said.

Inventories had been reduced when it was thought operations at the store may be discontinued, Stanley Carp, controller of the Carp's firm, said last week.

Charles Cholewick, long-time manager of Carp's downstairs department, is serving temporarily as store manager, Holtzman announced yesterday.

First agency exercising direct taxing power throughout bi-state region has been proposed for recreation—and might set a costly new precedent

Quad-Cities recall that the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council was created in the mid-1960s to provide limited regional coordination, as required by a federal law governing release of U.S. funds to aid highway construction. The logical contention was that "Illinois and Missouri roads have to be located in such a way that they connect with each other."

From that foot in the door, many new laws and policies have expanded Gateway's role markedly. It is well on the way to becoming a powerful "council of governments" entity, perhaps involving merger with the Bi-State Development Agency's bus-wharf-Arch-airport operations.

With this history in mind—a pattern of a little start followed by a big finish—it may prove wise to take a cautious approach to a proposed regional park authority.

It would be the first St. Louis area government with territory in both states and exercising direct taxing power. Its powers would include condemnation of property through the right of eminent domain.

The basic plan makes sense, just as did the concept of highway coordination a decade ago. The park authority would seek to develop regional recreation-historic-scenic areas in such logical places as the Cahokia Mounds-Hessboe Lake complex and the vicinity of the Lewis and Clark Park.

It can be accurately asserted that both of these ventures were created and are being implemented through local state-federal action. On the other hand, the pace of acquisition and development has been slower than many citizens would prefer.

There is no question but that many of the regional park proposals are attractive, including a 230-mile Gateway Discovery Trail for hikers and bicyclists, extending from Missouri Ozarks to the Mississippi River bluffs in Illinois.

A central question remaining to be answered is whether an entirely new agency is needed encompassing Madison, St. Clair and Monroe Counties in Illinois and St. Louis City and County and St. Charles, Jefferson and Franklin Counties in Missouri.

Another question—bringing immediate thoughts of East Side Levee and Sanitary District problems—is whether the Quad-Cities should be a part of still another direct taxing body in which this community lacks a dominant voice regarding board membership.

Downstate supplemental freeways a casualty of legislative veto session

State Rep. Robert Walters of this district contended in the Illinois House on Monday that lack of a good network of roads in southwestern and southern Illinois was a major reason for the decision this week shifting the Hambleton harness racing event from DuQuoin to Liberty Bell Park in Philadelphia after the 1974 race.

The point offers serious food for thought in the wake of the House failure to override a $139 million cut in highway spending achieved through an amendatory veto.

Speaker W. Robert Blair said after the voting Monday night that the governor and the Chicago mayor had joined forces to dismantle the legislature's spring 1973 enactment of a $265 million program which included Downstate Illinois supplemental freeways. The current special session is dealing primarily with gubernatorial vetoes.

Regardless of the specific factors prompting General Assembly acceptance of the fund reduction, serious road needs exist and are a contributing factor to not only inconvenience but also high rates of death, injury and damage.

The lack of adequate downstate connecting highways will need continuing attention in Springfield. Surely there is no need for extensive new documentation, judging by state officials' almost unanimous concern for this issue, voiced during the pre-election campaign of 1972.

SPIRIT LIFTER for the week

The start of anything is important: the start of a day, of a project, of a journey.

Add the thought that God is the beginning and you add a new dimension. Fortunate is the person who does this.

Public has mixed feelings of doubt, respect for officials

WASHINGTON — Watergate has brought forth new examinations of public attitudes toward politics and politicians.

Some polls show that opinions like "all politicians are crooks" are popular. But there is other evidence that Americans generally revere high political leaders.

At Georgetown University recently, two professors sat down with a panel of graduate students and tried to get inside the public mind to find out what affects the average American's attitudes toward political leaders and politics in general.

Prof. Robert J. O'Connor, department of government, said he is afraid Watergate will only "reinforce the public's attitude that politics is dirty."

Dr. Susan Clark, an associate professor in the sociology department, was more hopeful. "I think voters will become more concerned and aware and try to make their voices heard by insisting that elected officials are open and honest."

One question which Watergate has brought to mind is

"Why do certain people tend to idolize certain high political leaders and at the same time distrust politicians? What has created this distrust which seems to exist simultaneously with admiration?"

Clark said she believed the phenomena could be explained because, in the public mind, "political leaders are strongly associated with the office, the legal structure of the office, and the regular and legal process by which they have come to hold that office."

The other thing to consider, Clark said, "is that many people make a commitment to a particular political leader by voting for him."

"Consequently they may feel this person is to be admired partly for being in office and partly because he was their personal choice." O'Connor noted that "from childhood, people are schooled to think of political figures in very favorable ways. We know that, across the parts of the country, children's first image of the president puts him almost on a par with God. But I think while people respect the office, there is a feeling in the public mind of dispute over the ideas of compromise and negotiation, which are the politician's tools."

He said he feels the public is in a "state of tension" between favorable attitudes toward particular figures in high public office and a generalized distrust of politicians.

What kind of people go into politics in the first place? Clark said she could make a few generalizations based on her own and other studies.

"There are three things we usually find about people who go into politics," she said. "First, they are people who have time — who can take time away from their normal life. Lawyers fall into this category. Second, they are people who have money, because most political jobs simply do not pay enough to support a family. Third, they are usually people accustomed to speaking to other people or groups in their line of business."

In sum, she said, aspiring politicians are usually people with time, intellect and money. "One would hope they are also motivated by ideals of public service," she added.

REVIEW Picasso freedom stressed

PICASSO: IN RETROSPECT; edited by Roland Penrose and John Golding; Praeger Publishers; 283 pages; $29.95.

"I was privileged to remain close to him until his death and my admiration of his work has grown unceasingly. If I had to pick out the one quality in it that has struck me most forcibly, I would say that it was his freedom."

The statement is by Daniel Henry Kahnweiler and the man he is talking about is Pablo Picasso, undoubtedly the greatest painter of the 20th Century.

Picasso's life and his art are the subjects of a book, "Picasso: In Retrospect," that is itself an artistic triumph.

There are 324 illustrations of Picasso's paintings in this book, many of them in color. The paper used in the book's printing is thick and lustrous which enhances the display of the plates.

Picasso loved freedom, as noted by Kahnweiler, and he also loved life. He was very young, probably about 10, when his painter-father handed him palette and brushes. From then on, he painted and his canvases pulsed with color and the pulse of life.

Picasso feared one thing: death, the great destroyer of life and beauty. He shunned birthdays and ignored the passage of time. He forbade conversations about death in his presence. And so he went into his studio and painted furiously and turning out a prodigious amount of work, before death finally overtook him in Spain in the spring of 1973.

"Picasso: In Retrospect" covers the artist's life from beginning to end. There are examples of his paintings from the early Blue and Rose periods when his work had a more conventional appearance than later. In the 1910s, Picasso began his experiments with Cubism, along with Braque and Gris. And his paintings gradually began to develop along the lines that are more familiar to modern audiences: the single eye in the forehead, the straight line of the nose, the chunky, bulging torso.

But Picasso never remained the same for long; he was a great experimenter, with both color and line. And he, of course, veered into social commentary, motivated by the bloodshed and carnage of the Spanish Civil War. His most famous painting of war, titled "Guernica," was completed in 1937.

"Picasso: In Retrospect" also devotes a section to the artist's sculptures. Picasso turned these out almost as if they were "asides" to his main works on canvas.

There is no particular order or method in the sculptures; he apparently turned to them as a momentary relief from his other work.

Yet the sculpture is magnificent. He turned out a Death's Head in 1943 that reveals all of Picasso's loathing of death in its gaping eye sockets and crumpled mouth. His Man with a Lamb, also shown in the book, is like another hand, a poem to life as a man holds in his arms a new-born animal taking his first gasps of air.

Picasso was so prolific that it probably will be years and years before there is any coherent assessment of his entire output. He left no tidy bundle of paintings that produced an orderly fashion. His experiments led him in a bewildering number of directions. His faith in artistic innovation was unlimited.

But this book, one of the first major efforts since his death, is an excellent introduction to a man whose paintings contain what he held most dear: life.

NEEDED—PLACES TO GO, THINGS TO DO

To the Editor:
Teenagers today are really different in growing up. Ten or 20 years ago, they had places to go and things to do. Now we get pushed away. We can't even get a few of our friends together and go anywhere. Why? Because the older generation doesn't understand us. They can't even remember that they were kids once too.

A few months ago, my friends and I were sitting in a lot between 24th and 25th streets. We didn't cause any trouble. We sat there every day of our summer vacation.

The kids would all chip in money to buy sodas, pizzas, candy, cigarettes and other things. One day we were sitting under the tree and a man drove up.

He walked over and started talking with us nicely, but then all of a sudden started yelling. "Why don't you clean up this mess? It looks like a pig pen. This poor tree is dying from all you kids sitting there, it isn't getting any water."

About ten minutes later his wife handed us a couple of paper bags. She asked us nicely to clean up the place, and we did. After that we took pretty good care of it.

A few weeks later it started getting a few papers around getting a few papers around. We did it at least half the mess, but we were supposed to carry it home in our back pocket? We didn't have any place to put it—not one trash can close by.

The same man, his wife and his father came over and all started yelling at us again. The next day we decided we had to do something about the situation. One of our mothers called Alderman Poulos and got us a trash can.

Soon after that the police told us not to sit there any more. Finally, we found another place to sit, over at the Post Office.

We didn't really have much fun over there. Sometimes at night we would get a couple of bikes together and play bicycle tag. A few weeks later we were kicked off there; they told us a few kids were jumping from car to car the night before and damaged some of the vehicles.

We can't go to the show or drive-in because some of the pictures are too bad. The skating center is too far to walk and we don't get a ride out there.

We really don't have any place to go. Older people think we're bad because our boy friends have long hair or smoke. What's the difference between an adult and a teenager smoking? Just a few years.

They think we're looking for trouble when all we're trying to do is find something to do around this boring town.

I wish older people would think twice before saying anything bad to us or about us. I admit some teenagers are wrong in the decisions they make, but why does it have to be all of us? Everyone makes mistakes. We're human, too, and we're not the only ones who make mistakes.

And we're not the only ones who set bad examples for other people. Adults do the same things.

FEW DECIDE 'WHAT'S RIGHT' FOR OTHERS

To the Editor:
Who decides what makes a movie X rated? I've seen PG movies I wouldn't let my son see. He's old enough to decide for himself.

It's bad enough that a few people get to label a movie as "adults only" or "X" and it's awful.

But I object even more to a few people in Granite City deciding for me that now I can even go see these movies after they've been rated by other people's object. Where does it stop?

People had better start taking notice of what's going on in America today. On every level of government, a few people have decided what's right for all the rest of us.

Trouble at a restaurant? Close them all at midnight. Personally, I like to go out very late at times and get a bite to eat and things to do. I almost lost this right a couple of weeks ago.

Now they've decided for me that I can't go see an X rated movie. After a couple of other people decided for me which one should be X rated.

Where will it stop?

Why not devote all the attention to the folks breaking the laws? If I cause a disturbance at a restaurant, arrest me. But if I want a coke or hamburger, allow me this right.

If I'm under age, keep the theatre management from allowing me to view the movie; a $50 fine per minor would cut down the amount of young people getting by the doorman.

But if I'm of legal age, let me alone to view what I wish.

People of Granite City, please speak up—not if you like your hamburgers in the "early morning" or if you like your movies X rated, but if you'd like the right to keep on deciding for yourself just what you do like. Speak up now, or that might be the next thing on the list to go!

DISCOURAGEMENT CAN BRING RENEWED HOPE

To the Editor:
In 1970, the Great Chicago Fire leveled a strip five miles long and one mile wide through the heart of the windy City. The fire killed at least 300 Chicagoans and did $500 million in damage.

But one thing the fire failed to do. It didn't blacken the dream of a real estate agent by the name of William D. Kerfoot.

He was the first victim to plan the rebuilding of his place of business. Although it was a mammoth, temporary building, he nailed this hand-lettered sign on the front:

LOST EXCEPT CHILDREN'S WIFE AND ENERGY."

On a recent visit to the Chicago Historical Society, I saw the original sign on display. Although darkened with age, its message still comes through loud and clear.

I don't know why Mr. Kerfoot used the word "energy." I would probably have chosen "hope" or "determination."

But he got his point across. And that's what counts.

Hopefully, few of us will ever witness a disaster like the Great Chicago Fire. But all of us face little everyday grassfires of defeat that irritate and discourage.

These grassfires may sweep away a little of our energy, but so long as we have life and family and health and "energy," as Mr. Kerfoot put it, we can always find a vacant lot and make a fresh start.

Let's all quit poking around in yesterday's ashes. Let's dig a foundation for tomorrow's dream.

IMPEACH BEFORE ALL RIGHTS DISAPPEAR

To the Editor:

Since many of us in this area have heard of the impeachment of a president, I hope we have not forgotten why our parents or grandparents came to this country.

It was their dream that here they and their families could escape the oppression that is the inevitable result of the tyranny and arrogance of unbridled power.

They believed this was a government of the people, by the people and for the people, and so it has been until now.

Richard Nixon's utter disdain for his "subjects" and his incredible contempt for government by law are frightening.

Just as it is our privilege and duty to vote a man into office, it is also our privilege and duty to impeach a man. That is a right we should exercise now before it, too, is taken from us.

Campus security chief retires; 40 years as officer

Carl Foster has many good memories about Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville since he became chief of security 12 years ago. Yesterday was his last working day before retirement.

"Mostly my memory goes back to the first year I came to SIUE," Foster said. "I had no patrol car and I made up the entire staff. I knew all the students, faculty and staff. Things were on a much more personal basis."

Since that time, the SIUE Security Office has grown to a staff of 32 people. The office now has six patrol cars, a telephone, a two-frequency radio system and a point-to-point radio for outside contact. Foster believes the office has made headway since the early days. "We're never really satisfied and are always striving for new goals, but at this stage we have come a long way."

Foster previously was head of Security at St. Louis University. He was also former chief of security at Malden Air Base, Mo., and chief of police at Murphysboro. This is his 40th year in police work.

When Foster thinks back over the last 12 years, he says most of the troubles that developed were due to outside interference. "We have a good student body here, and we have not had much trouble where students are concerned."

He plans to stay in Hartford, where he now resides, until March or April of next year and then he will move back to Murphysboro. "I don't have any particular plans right now, but I know I won't be bored," he added.

Cite savings in park water line

"An important improvement in Pere Marquette State Park is on the way as a result of a request by the Capital Development Board," State Sen. Sam M. Vadalabene said yesterday. "The board is asking for release of $190,400 from the Capital Development Bond Fund."

"This money will be used for water line extension and treatment facilities at Pere Marquette," Vadalabene continued. "The improvements are sorely needed; in fact, the present system has been declared unsafe by the Environmental Protection Agency."

"A new system will utilize the Jersey County Water District. The cost will be less than repairing the old system, which lies primarily on U. S. Army property."

"We all owe a debt of thanks to Gov. Daniel Walker and Director of Conservation Anthony Dean, who saw to it that the project was fully in line with the overall capital improvement plan."

Gateway board meet cancelled

Two schools vandalized

Vandals caused extensive damage Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning at a portable classroom at Logan School and at Prather Junior High School.

At Logan, where custodians had just completed cleanup operations from a weekend break-in, water faucets were broken and the water ran all night covering the floor. The portable classroom was ransacked. The vandalism was reported at 10:15 a.m. Wednesday.

Obnoxious words were written on windows and mirrors. A fire extinguisher is believed to be the same one thrown through a window at Prather. Six windows there were broken, the fire extinguisher was emptied into a classroom and eggs were thrown into other classrooms, it was reported at the same time as the Logan destruction.

Tag Days for young gridders

A special Tag Days activity, to help finance expansion of the Granite City "Little Rascals" boys' tackle football program, will be held tomorrow and Saturday at downtown Granite City and area shopping centers.

Last year's event helped the local organization establish two teams in the Tri-County Junior Football Association, which now numbers 71 area teams.

Ron Langford, vice-president of the club, again will act as chairman of the Tag Days.

Divisions in the association are junior pee wee, 9-year-olds with a maximum weight of 65 pounds, pee wees, 10-year-olds with maximum weight of 85 pounds, midgets, 12-year-olds, maximum weight of 115 pounds and 13-year-olds with a maximum weight of 160 pounds.

Funds are needed to add another team to the Jr. pee wee and pee wee divisions, and enough players will move up and return next year to warrant two additional midget teams.

Players from each team will be in football uniforms to help in the fund raising drive.

Horseshoeing not a lost art in Illinois

SPRINGFIELD — Old Beasie needs three size 7AAs and one size 8D while Blue needs two size 6Bs and two size 5Cs.

For an ordinary shoe salesman, this situation could bring on Excedrin headache No. 21. But, as you might have guessed, Beasie and Blue are nags, and for some 50 horse-shoers taking exams this fall at the Illinois State Fairgrounds, the order is a little easier to fill ... but just as nerve-racking. They are working against time and under the watchful eye and under the watchful eye of a Board of Examiners.

Twice a year the Department of Registration and Education gives the exams to license horseshoers. Illinois is the only state in the country to do so.

"Applicants come from every state in the country," explained Bill Royer, licensed horseshoer whose shop on the Fairgrounds is used during the examinations. "Although you don't need a license to shoe horses in any other state, many out-of-staters attempt to get a license from Illinois because it is considered prestigious."

"Too, many attend a horseshoeing school in Macomb, Ill., and want to take the test right out of school in this state," he continued.

Each applicant — one girl registered this fall — must make one shoe and fit it on one foot of one horse. They are asked to bring their own horse as well as equipment such as anvil, devil, vise, and forge.

The first step in the exam is to prepare the horse's foot for shoeing.

"Each person is then allowed one hour to make the shoe out of a bar of steel of a blank. He must weld the shoe in the fire, and then he has any amount of time it takes to shoe it," said Royer, who has been professionally shoeing horses for 12 years.

Two persons may be working on the same horse at the same time. However, the horseshoer fitting the shoe has priority over the man nailing the shoe on.

What are some of the things the four-man examining board looks for during the demonstration?

"I look for a smooth finish on the foot, and I check to make sure the shoe fits the perimeter of the foot," explained Jim Bodard of Anna, Goddard is a member of the board and a horseshoer by profession.

"I also pick the foot up to see if the shoe evenly fits the foot," he said. "If you can see hills and valleys as well as daylight between the shoe and the foot then it doesn't fit properly."

"Neatness and appearance are also important. The shoe might fit well and be level but look crude," Goddard stated.

News notes

The President plans to ask Congress for emergency powers to curb working hours in shopping centers and office buildings as a way of reducing use of heating oil and electricity. The legislation also may call for permanent daylight saving time. There is no power shortage in this region.

Two of the nine Presidential tape recordings scheduled to be turned over to U. S. District Judge John J. Sirica never existed because one recorder had run out and another malfunctioned, a White House lawyer said Wednesday.

Leon Jaworski of Houston, 1971-72 American Bar Association president, was asked yesterday to be the new special Watergate prosecutor.

Boosters to host football Steelers

The Steelers' Booster Club of GCHS North will focus its attention Monday on the school football teams during a special "hospitality day" program for all football players, their families, students' and cheerleaders.

The event will immediately follow practice and is scheduled to begin at 5:30 p.m. in the school's cafeteria.

Similar events were held for the cross-country and soccer teams and more are being arranged to honor athletes in other sports at North.

'372 million sales in year by Amsted

Amsted Industries this week announced that its sales and earnings reached all-time highs in the fiscal year ended Sept. 30. Net income amounted to $12,100,000, up 24 per cent from $12,200,000 last year. Earnings per share rose to $5.50 from $4.41.

Sales increased 22 per cent to $72,300,000 from $59,300,000 in 1972. Joseph B. Lanterman, chairman, and G. F. Smith, president, said, "The benefits derived from diversification and decentralization, coupled with a strong general economy, produced the greatest year in Amsted's history."

Amsted owns the American Steel Foundry, whose facilities include a Granite City plant.

Sizeable sales increases in every major product area accounted for the record volume. The combined sales of construction and general industrial products increased $45,800,000 to a new high of $27,400,000, or 66 per cent of total sales.

Shipments of all items in these two product areas were up, the largest increase being in sales of water and waste transmission products.

Railroad product sales were also a record $124,900,000, an increase of $20,300,000 from last year, principally as a result of a substantial increase in new freight car buying that began in April.

The two executives noted that "earnings in each quarter of the fiscal year exceeded the comparable period of the prior year."

"While the percentage increase in net income was only slightly more than the percentage in sales, earnings would have been higher had it not been for a sharp increase in the price of ferrous metal scrap, a major raw material used in the company's foundry plants. Scrap prices at the fiscal year end were about 50 per cent higher than a year ago. And both sales and earnings were adversely affected during the year because of the scarcity of skilled personnel."

The quarterly dividend payment was increased from 50 cents to 60 cents per share in December 1972 and was further increased to 65 cents per share in June 1973. This resulted in a record dividend of $2.50 per share in fiscal 1973, compared to $1.90 per share last year. Dividends totaling $6,800,000 were paid to stockholders in 1973 compared to $5,340,000 in 1972.

Amsted's backlog of orders at Sept. 30 was a record high of $151,000,000, compared to $77,000,000 a year earlier. The largest increase in backlog was in orders for components for new freight cars.

The business of J & B Plastics Co., Inc. of Fairfield, Ia., was acquired for cash on Dec. 31, 1972. J & B produces custom plastic extrusions and injection molded plastic parts and has annual sales in excess of $1,500,000.

Additions to fixed assets were $11,200,000 in fiscal 1973, including this acquisition. On the basis of present plans, expenditures for plant additions in 1974, excluding acquisitions, will be about $14,000,000.

Amsted purchased 76,000 of its common shares during fiscal 1973 and had a total of 40,718 treasury shares on Sept. 30. Total debt amounted to $2,500,000, up $4,000,000 from a year ago.

Szymon Kowalczyk succumbs

Szymon "Sam" Kowalczyk, 80, of 1713 Edwardsville Road, Madison, Ill. for one year, died at 3:45 a.m. Wednesday at St. Elizabeth Hospital where he had been a patient six weeks.

A native of Totok, Poland, he resided in Madison for 57 years. Mr. Kowalczyk was employed many years at the American Car and Foundry and later worked as a blacksmith at Granite City Steel Co. until his retirement in 1959.

A member of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, he also belonged to St. Stanislaus Lodge 1004, Polish Roman Catholic Union, the Polish National Alliance, Venice-Madison American Legion Post 307 and Veterans of World War I. Barracks 34.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Anna (Made) Kowalczyk; two sons, Florian and Edward Kowalczyk, both of Madison; two daughters, Miss Cecelia Kowalczyk of Madison and Mrs. Edward (Theresa) Gula of Granite City; two sisters, Mrs. Valerie Dobrowski of Madison and Mrs. Caroline Novak of Poland; one brother, Adam Kowalczyk of Poland; 12 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. Another daughter, Mrs. Lucille Krawicki preceded him in death.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Mrs. Frances C. Fox dies

Mrs. Frances Catherine Fox, 76, of 2313 Nameoki Road, died at 11:30 p.m. Monday at St. Elizabeth Hospital. She had been ill two years and at the hospital two weeks.

Mrs. Fox was born in Brooklyn, N.Y., and resided in Granite City 10 years. Her husband, Francis Fox, preceded her in death April 22, 1956.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Edward (Muriel) Byrne of Granite City; four sons, John Fox of New Hyde Park, Long Island, N.Y.; James Fox of Hicksville, Long Island, Francis of Islip, Long Island, and Thomas of Lighthouse William (Nora) Gargan of Sayville, Long Island; 10 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Legislators meet in temporary hall

Eighteen microphones have been installed. They run up and down the two side aisles. Members have to stand in line if they wish to join amplified debate.

In the chamber, each member has his or her own microphone. No desks will be installed. All members work from a clipboard which they pick up from a pigeonhole mailbox in one of two slightly remodeled cloakrooms located in the rear of the room.

There is no electronic voting board. All roll calls are taken orally. The number of the bill under discussion is flashed on a screen via an overhead projector.

(Senate Clerk Edward Fernandes said oral roll calls in the upper chamber normally take anywhere from three to eight minutes to complete. With 175 members in the House compared to 59 in the Senate, it is hard to say just how long an average roll will take in the lower house. Fernandes said he'd be surprised if it could be done in less than 15 minutes.)

A temporary platform for House Clerk Fred Selcke has been installed in the front of the room. It was obtained from the Secretary of State's antique auto show which appears annually at the State Fair. A similar platform has been erected in the rear of the auditorium for television cameras.

Selcke stands behind his old desk which was salvaged from the gutted house chamber. House Speaker W. Robert Blair stands on stage behind an old iron desk, once used by the secretary of state's office for auto vehicle registration. He bangs his gavel on a wooden block made especially for the occasion.

For back room political wheeling and dealing, an office has been provided for each of the party leaders — back stage left for the Democrats and back stage right for the Republicans. Blair, Park Forest Republican, conducts his business in the men's room. Democratic leader Clyde Choate of Anna sits behind a door once labeled "ladies restroom."

Blair's office has been painted powder blue and Choate's, believe it or not, "egg white."

Two speaker columns have been mounted on the walls to each side of the stage. The sound system is controlled by a mixer once used by delegates to the 1970 Constitutional Convention.

Auditorium lighting radiates from four 36-bulb crystal chandeliers. The old 22-watt bulbs have been replaced with 100-watt bulbs. Each fixture now provides 3,600 watts of lighting power.

Legislative correspondents sit behind two tables located to each side of the clerk's platform. Telephones are provided for each reporter. Phones are also available for the political leaders, the speaker and Selcke.

Just how long the session will last, no one knows. But speculation runs from three weeks to two months.

But whatever, the absence of an electronic voting device and other inconveniences associated with the House meeting in the Centennial Building are sure to inflame already short-tempered. As a result, the 1973 fall session of the General Assembly promises to be one of the most interesting and unpredictable in recent years.

Illinois transportation problems being studied

Kramer is the former director of the Highway Action Coalition which is comprised of 25 national environmental groups, trade unions and consumer groups. The coalition successfully led the campaign for use of federal highway trust funds for public transit. Kramer is embusied about his move to Illinois.

"The transportation problems of the state are as varied as those of any state in the country. They range from the major urban problems to the new field of aviation to the tremendous highway needs of most of the state to the rail transport capacity of both passenger and freight lines," said the Stanford University graduate.

Kramer is 24 years old. In his new capacity, the native of California defines his duties as falling into two main areas.

"One area involves the development of transportation plans, programs and policies," he explained. "Long-range as well as short-term transportation problems will be studied and solutions suggested."

Kramer's division will also attempt to determine the environmental and social effects of all transportation programs and, where possible, minimize adverse reactions. This will involve participation by local citizens.

"This is the function of the division I intend to emphasize," the Phi Beta Kappa key-holder asserted. "My feeling is that transportation has such a fundamental effect on the way we live that we must involve people in the transportation decision-making process. I think Illinois has made a good effort to do this."

A new role for the director, who receives $32,000 annually, will be that of involvement in external affairs. "I intend to develop the department's relationship with the legislature and those constituencies which have a particular interest in state transportation," Kramer said.

Kramer is 24 years old. In his new capacity, the native of California defines his duties as falling into two main areas.

Recluse spider appears

The brown recluse spider—uncommon in this area—has made an appearance at Maryville School and in parts of Collinsville.

The incidents brought a warning from the Illinois Department of Public Health that while there have been no fatalities in this state because of spider bites, a person who is bitten should obtain immediate medical attention to avoid complications.

The brown recluse is about two-thirds of an inch long and bears a violin-shaped marking. A blue mark will develop where a victim is bitten and unless treatment is received within three to four hours severe itching will occur.

State income, spending rise

Comptroller George W. Lindberg reports that state activity during the first quarter of fiscal 1974 has caused estimates of both revenues and expenditures to rise.

Lindberg has summarized his report in three key fiscal areas.

1. First-quarter performance of general fund activity indicates that actual revenues were near what the governor had estimated ($4 million higher), while spending was about $25 million more than the governor estimated. Therefore, the state finished the first quarter with $21 million "in the bank" than the governor had estimated.

2. The governor, on a yearly basis, has increased his revenue estimates for the general funds. This increase in estimated revenues improves the fiscal outlook for 1974, but at the expense of his tax relief program which is no longer included in these projections.

"If the governor does not plan to pursue tax relief in fiscal 1974, his current estimates of the state's income and spending will bring him back to a basically balanced budget," Lindberg said.

"However, if new programs are undertaken, or if the governor adheres to his tax relief program during 1974, he must realistically consider the alternatives."

3. Total appropriations from all funds approved by the governor were $7,375,000, or $346 million more than the governor recommended in his budget document.

Appropriations approved by the governor are higher than he first recommended in every fund group, the Illinois comptroller concluded.

Doctors to fight 'encroachment,' protect patients

"Physician's Bill of Rights" intended to safeguard the traditional doctor-patient relationship from increasing third-party interference was proposed by the president of the Illinois State Medical Society this week.

Dr. Willard C. Scrivner, a Belleville obstetrician and gynecologist, said his 12-point bill of rights "reflects the fears and concerns of most doctors as government, health insurance companies, hospitals and health care organizations become more and more involved in the practice of medicine. It seems as if everyone is trying to play doctor."

Dr. Scrivner sees his proposal as a protection for both physician and patient.

"I hope that my bill of rights will influence the nation's doctors to stand up to those who tell them how to do their jobs—often to the deterioration of patient care," the ISMS president said.

"A lot of people probably are going to be angry because of what I have proposed, but doctors must draw the line beyond which they will not permit third-party intrusion. It is time for me—and for all other MDs—to speak up, to stand up and be counted."

Provisions of the Physician's Bill of Rights, which reflect Dr. Scrivner's concern for the health care consumers include:

1. Vigorous opposition by the medical profession to interference with a patient's freedom to select his own doctor.

2. Insistence that insurance companies have a responsibility to the patient and the doctor to specify in clear and understandable language all benefits offered by the policy issued to the insured person.

3. Strong objection to setting of physicians' compensation by insurance carriers and government agencies based on geographic locations, when the services are similar.

"Doctors in rural and other less populated or less affluent areas are being discriminated against," this practices discourages doctors from practicing in areas where they are most needed, and contributes to the increasing problems of physician maldistribution," said Dr. Scrivner.

4. Objection to unauthorized substitution of medication, prosthetics or other prescribed items by pharmacists, nurses or anyone other than a physician; such activities will be regarded as an illegal practice of medicine, Dr. Scrivner said.

"I realize that some of my ultimatums may be tested in our courts," Dr. Scrivner continued. "But I believe in my profession and its practitioners. I believe in the Physician's Bill of Rights; and I refuse to give another inch to those who would continue to encroach on the practice of medicine."

His plan has been endorsed by the board of trustees of the Illinois State Medical Society, and will be submitted for action by the American Medical Association at its convention Dec. 1-5 in Anaheim, Calif.

Courtesy drive by Howlett

A policy statement, defining courtesy as a necessary qualification for continued employment, has been issued by Michael J. Howlett, Illinois secretary of state, to all employees of his office.

"It is the duty of every employee to render courteous and efficient service," said Howlett. "Inattention to this will be cause for discipline, up to and including discharge."

Signs reminding citizens that they are entitled to courteous service will be posted in all the secretary's public facilities. They will read:

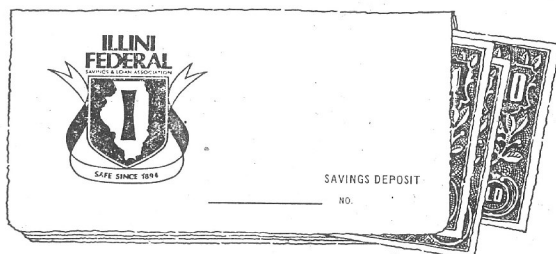

"As taxpayers you pay our salaries. You are entitled to prompt, courteous service. If you do not feel you have received that service, please call me, toll-free at 800-522-8980, Michael J. Howlett, Secretary of State."

In every copy of the new "Rules of the Road," a postcard will be inserted for citizens to compliment or complain about service received in driver's license, license plates, certificates of title or any other transactions with the office.

Postage for the postcard will be paid on receipt by the secretary's office. But the toll-free telephone number also is listed in the insert for citizens who want faster and more direct contact for their complaints.

"Every employee who meets the public is a personal representative of the secretary," said Howlett. "If courtesy and satisfaction are not delivered, we want to know about it."

We took the best features of a piggy bank and added one from a rich uncle.

We call it the Illini Federal Passbook Savings Account. It's everything you could want in a savings account. Maybe more.

It's like a piggy bank because you can put in as much money as you want—whenver you want. In fact, a dollar is all you need to open an account. You can take your money out whenever you want, too. If you need some of your savings suddenly, you don't have to break the bank or even give us notice. Just fill out a withdrawal slip.

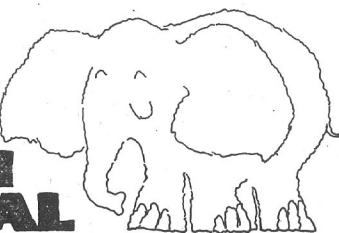

And it's as safe as a piggy-bank. Even safer. Your account is insured up to $20,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation. Okay, an Illini Passbook Account is like a piggy bank. But if that's all there were to it, you'd be just as well off with a piggy bank. It's the rich uncle that makes the difference. He feeds the piggy a little extra every time he visits. We feed your savings account every day.

Passbook accounts at Illini earn 5-1/4% interest per year. And we compound that interest daily. So you actually have a little more money tomorrow than you deposit today. And even your interest earns interest.

Everyone has had a piggy bank. But at Illini Federal, everyone has a rich uncle, too.

We'll never forget what it takes to get big. You.

Tire markings explained

The letters DOT as a symbol for the Department of Transportation should be on every automobile tire adjacent to the serial number before it is purchased. Max Boyd, automotive department manager at Grant City, told the Evening Kiwanis Club at its meeting Monday in Charlie's Restaurant.

Boyd, a member of the Breakfast Kiwanis Club, said

Educators to convene

The ninth annual Reading Conference sponsored by SUE will be held Saturday, Nov. 17, from 7:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. on the SUE campus. It traditionally attracts an attendance of 1,200 to 1,500 educators from the southwestern Illinois and the St. Louis area.

Theme of this year's conference will be "The Teacher and the Improvement of Reading." The program is being developed by the elementary education department and extension services of the SIUE School of Education, with David Bear and Ruth Richardson as co-chairmen.

Reading materials will be exhibited, with 40 exhibitors participating. Keynote speaker will be Leo Fay of Indiana University, and 16 discussion groups will be featured, with prominent consultants leading each group.

The sessions will be held, enabling each conferee to participate in two interest groups. Subjects scheduled include: Alpha one reading program, perceptual-motor development, teaching oral reading, teaching the listening skills, group individualization, motivation, comprehension skills, learning theories and concept development as the basis for reading.

Tests and test interpretation, working with parents and volunteer aides, programs for the accelerated reader (K-4), building self-concept through reading.

Teaching reading in disadvantaged neighborhoods, providing for the handicapped reader in the secondary school, and a comprehensive reading program in grades 6, 7 and 8.

Three additional panel discussions will be offered in single sessions: reading program for the open classroom, teacher-made games, and reading supervisor roundup.

Registration fee for the conference is $2. No luncheon will be served. Programs and exhibits will be presented in the University Center and the Peck Building.

that the initials DOT indicate that the tire meets the safety requirements of the federal government.

He also said he feels the new radial tires are the best buy on the market today, and that drivers with quick starts and who make sharp turns are a tire's worst enemy, next to the heat factor.

Visiting Kiwanians were Richard Coleman, president of the Edwardsville Kiwanis Club, Robert Wollbrink, Robert Williamson, Louis Enloe, past District 14 Kiwanis governor, and John Uffers, all of Edwardsville.

Peter F. Jellen reported that he, Joseph Palovich, Alvin Gross and Kiwanis President Howard Ebertson attended a meeting of the Wood River Kiwanis Club, and the local club received credit for an inner-club visit.

3 students commended

Letters of commendation honoring them for their high performance on the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test-National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test have been awarded to three Granite City students.

They are Marianne Yevin and John Haynes, both of South High, and Otto Paul Seebold of North High. The announcement was made by Principals James Dumont (GCHS South) and Gilbert Walmaley (GCHS North).

The National Merit Scholarship Corp. has named 38,000 commended students in the U. S. They are among the upper two per cent of those expected to graduate from high school in 1974. Thus, they rank high but are below the 15,000 semifinalists announced in September.

Edward C. Smith, NSMC president, said, "The high standing of commended students show they have great promise of continued success in college. Their attainment in this nationwide program deserves public recognition, and they should be encouraged to make every effort to continue their education."

Their names are reported to the colleges they named as first and second choices when they took the tests a year ago.

The reports include their test scores, anticipated college majors, and career intentions.

Student dance is Friday

A dance for which admission will be free for those who arrive before 8:30 p.m. will be given Friday, beginning at 8 p.m., for students of both Granite City high schools.

The dance will be held in the South cafeteria under sponsorship of the South Student Council.

A band known as "Sway" will furnish the music. Bob Parks, leader of the band, as well as the band members, are invited from the local high school.

Ken Kibort is student council president, and Miss Sharon Smegner is the faculty advisor.

Mobile home registration taken by town assessors

Registration of mobile homes and a new state law establishing a privilege tax on such units is to be completed within the next two weeks in the four townships of the Quad-City area, it was reported today.

The registration is being conducted by the township assessors who will direct the completed forms to the county clerk's office. Mobile home owners then will be billed by the county.

Von Dee Cruse, Granite City Township assessor, said his office will begin accepting registrations Monday and will continue the registration work through Friday, Nov. 16.

This will give mobile home owners ten days in which to file registration forms in his office. Cruse said, since the office is open daily, Monday through Friday, office hours are 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m.

The same registration procedure has been set by O. R. Reeves, Chouteau Township assessor, who also will accept registrations at his office, 807 Missouri Ave., South Roxana. Reeves said there are approximately 300 mobile homes in Chouteau Township.

John Bridick, Venice Township assessor, said he is obtaining the registration forms from mobile home owners in Venice Township and that he expects to complete the job by Nov. 15. Bridick said there are about 18 mobile homes in his township and that the work is not extensive as it is in other parts of the area.

Joseph Conan, assessor of Nameoki Township, who said there are about 500 mobile homes in his jurisdiction, said he also is obtaining the registrations, and that he hopes to complete the work in a short time.

Cruse, who said there are approximately 350 mobile homes that must be registered in Granite City Township, noted that under the new law all mobile home owners are required to register their units, regardless of whether there were previous registrations or assessments.

Mobile home owners should bring their state registration cards with them when appearing at the assessor's office to fill out their forms, Cruse said.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of DONNA SUSAN COX, Oct. 21, 1968. Deeply missed by—MOM, DAD, GINA and BOBBY. 28 11

In loving memory of MAX WELLS B. LEGATE, November 2, 1970. Near shady walk a rose once grew, Budded and blossomed on God's free light. Watered and fed by morning dew, Shedding its sweetness day and night. As it grew and blossomed fair, Slowly rising to loftier height, It came to a crevice in the wall, Through which there shone a beam of light. Onward it crept with added strength, With never a thought of fear or pride. It followed the light through the crevice-length, And unfolded itself on the other side. The light, the dew, the broadening view, Were found the same as they were before. And it lost itself in beauties new, Breathing its fragrance more and more. Shall claim of death cause us to grieve, And make our courage fail? Nay, let us faith and hope receive. The rose still grows beyond the wall. Scattering fragrance far and wide. Just as it did in days of yore, Just as it did on the other side, Just as it will forever be. Sadly missed by—WIFE, CHILDREN, MOTHER. 33 11 1

In loving memory of ALICE MCQUINNEY, Nov. 2, 1969. Dear mother and grandmother, you are not forgotten. Though on earth you are no more. Still in memory you are with us as you always were before. Those Who Loved Her 33 11 1

In loving memory of LISTER H. METCALF, Nov. 1972. We often sit and think of him when we are all alone, For memory is the only friend that grief can tell us own; Like ivy on the withered oak, Our love for him will still keep green and never fade away. DEAR WIFE, DAUGHTER and GRANDCHILDREN 33 11 1

Illinoisans prominent in 1868 impeachment

Recent headlines concerning the possibility of presidential impeachment have prompted numerous queries to the reference division of the Illinois State Historical Library about the history of impeachments in Illinois and the nation, State Historian William K. Alderfer reports.

"People have been calling us for information on the impeachment of President Johnson in 1868 — and on the history of impeachments in Illinois," Alderfer said.

"For this reason and because of the widespread public interest in the matter, I have asked our director of research—Dr. Roger Bridges—to prepare a brief resume of these earlier cases. His report is an example of the Historical Library's continuing effort not only to collect and preserve our history but to disseminate it."

Impeachment resolutions have been introduced in Congress approximately 50 times since the founding of the Republic. But only 12 men have been impeached, and only one of these was a president—Andrew Johnson.

The U.S. Constitution deals with impeachment in three places: "The president, vice president and all civil officers of the United States shall be removed from office on impeachment for, and conviction of, treason, bribery or other high crimes and misdemeanors."—Art. II, Sec. 4.

"The House of Representatives shall have the sole power of impeachment."—Art. I, Sec. 2. "The Senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments . . . and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present."

"Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust or profit under the United States; but the party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment and punishment, according to law."—Art. I, Sec. 3.

Thus, House impeachment and subsequent Senate trial on the impeachment charges are the political counterpart of the judicial process of indictment and trial.

Impeachment and trial are a political proceeding because the penalty upon conviction cannot exceed removal from— and disqualification to hold—office. President Johnson was impeached for violating the Tenure of Office Act, passed over his veto in 1867.

That act held that Senate approval was necessary for the President to remove from office any individual whose appointment had required Senate confirmation.

Its provisions were applied when President had required Senate confirmation.

Its provisions were applied when President Johnson attempted to fire Secretary of War Edwin M. Stanton. Stanton had been appointed by Abraham Lincoln but had become the cabinet's leading obstructionist to Johnson's policies.

The Senate refused to approve Stanton's dismissal. Despite the Senate action, Johnson again attempted to replace Stanton. Johnson was then impeached by the House for violating the Tenure of Office Act.

Several Illinoisans were prominent in these events.

Gen. Ulysses S. Grant of Galena had served as Secretary of War "ad interim" awaiting Senate action on Johnson's first attempt to remove Stanton under the provisions of the Tenure of Office Act.

After the second removal attempt, Illinois Gov. Richard J. Oglesby wired Illinois Congressman Eben C. Ingersoll that "the people of Illinois . . . impeach."

Oglesby's telegram, when read on the floor of the House, created a national sensation.

After the House impeached Johnson, it named Southern Illinois Congressman John A. Logan as one of the managers to represent the House at the Senate trial.

When the trial testimony ended, the two senators from Illinois split over the question of Johnson's guilt.

Richard Yates joined a majority of his colleagues—all Republicans—in voting to convict. Lyman Trumbull joined the Democrats and six other Republicans in voting to acquit.

Although widely criticized for his vote by his fellow Republicans, Trumbull remained with his party and continued to participate in its leadership until he joined the liberal Republican movement in 1872.

Back home in Illinois, only one state official has been impeached. In 1833, Supreme Court Justice Theophilus W. Smith was impeached for oppressive conduct, corruption and other misdemeanors.

Among his defense attorneys at the state senate trial were future U.S. Senator and State Supreme Court Justice Sidney Brees and future Gov. Thomas Ford.

After a three-week trial, Smith was acquitted on a vote of twelve "guilty" and ten "not guilty."

In 1923, impeachment resolutions were introduced in the state House of Representatives against Gov. Len Small, Lt. Gov. Fred Sterling and Auditor of Public Accounts Andrew Russell. The resolutions were tabled without a vote.

Price backs medical, drug and audit bills

Congressman Melvin Price has spoken in favor of three bills up for consideration on the floor of the House of Representatives.

During debate on the Emergency Medical Services Act, which previously had been vetoed by the President, Rep. Price noted a serious shortage of emergency facilities, telling his colleagues that "basic medical care is not the area for fiscal restraint."

Price urged passage of the Drug Abuse Education Extension, which funds diverse drug information centers. The local congressman emphasized that "the key to elimination of drug abuse is a public well informed of the dangers of drugs."

Price also spoke in favor of the Federal Reserve Audit bill, which would require the comptroller general of the U.S. to audit the Federal Reserve System at least once every three years.

Price greeted and was photographed with members of the Collinsville chapter of the Sweet Adelines, a female choral group in Washington for a national convention of that organization. The group, consisting of Helen Groh, Romona Barnett, Jean Schobert and Lu Schneider, performed at the Washington Hilton.

Rep. Price has cosponsored a House resolution calling on President Nixon to support Israel's deterrent strength through transfer of Phantom aircraft and other military supplies. The congressman had previously warned against compromising U.S. support for Israel because of the domestic need for Arab petroleum.

Rep. Price, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Earle E. Bitzer of Collinsville, attended a dinner sponsored by the Illinois Automotive Trade Association. Bitzer was in Washington to attend a national automobile dealers convention.

After President Nixon's firing of Watergate Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox and the resignation of Attorney General Richardson, mail and telephone calls to Congressman Price's office began running heavily in favor of impeachment of the President.

St. Margaret Mary scene of Kaiser-Kafka wedding

Miss Marlene Kafka, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kafka, 1532 Rodger Ave. and Richard Kaiser, son of Mrs. Mary Hediger, 2033 Wayne Ave., exchanged wedding vows in a noon ceremony Oct. 20 at St. Margaret Mary Roman Catholic Church.

The Rev. Robert Becker performed the double ring service before an altar bedecked with bouquets of fall flowers. White satin bows marked the family pews.

Barbara Schmidt, soloist, accompanied by Jon Grindstaff and Charles Walton on guitars, sang "The Wedding Song," "Sunrise, Sunset," "Never My Love" and "A Time For Us."

For her wedding the former Miss Kafka chose a gown of champagne peau de satin. The Empire bodice featured a high collar, accented with wide lace rose motifs and etched with tiny pearls. Long tapered sleeves were ruffled at the wrist in matching lace.

The long full skirt was made with an apron effect trimmed with a lace border on the sides and back and encircling the hemline to sweep backward into a chapel train.

Her bouffant veil of champagne illusion tulle was attached to a small pillbox headpiece enhanced with pearls and embroidered lace. She held a bouquet of miniature 'mums and baby breath.

Maid of honor Miss Sandy Wiesenborn and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Renee Kaiser, a sister-in-law of the groom and Miss Priscilla Kafka, a sister of the bride, wore identical floor length dresses of navy blue knit designed with square necklines, enhanced with white embroidered smocking. The decorative smocking formed wide cuffs on the long sleeves and a deep ruffled flounce bordering the hemline.

Meatless meals can benefit from added animal protein

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK
Home Economics Extension Adviser

Consumers are learning that meatless meals can provide good nutrition as well as help ease the strain on their food budget.

But proteins from plant sources usually aren't as high quality as proteins from animal sources. Plant proteins are apt to be low or lacking in one or more of the essential amino acids.

The value of the plant proteins can be greatly improved by adding a small amount of animal protein. For example, the proteins in macaroni are supplemented by the proteins in cheese, making macaroni and cheese an excellent main dish.

Other good combinations include a bowl of meatless chili with beans served with a glass of milk; a lima bean casserole with a grated cheese topping; and split pea soup with cheese and crackers.

The major meat alternates are eggs, cheese, dried peas or beans, peanuts and peanut butter, milk and some grain products. There are many possibilities for combining these plant- and animal-source proteins for varied and nutritious meals.

Increase in wheat

By WARREN W. BUNDY
U. of I. Extension Adviser
Madison County farmers are planting more wheat acres this fall for next year's harvest than the usual 37,000 acres they have planted in past years.

Some farmers are doubling their normal wheat acreage, but others are planting their usual amount.

Reasons given by farmers for increasing their acreage include favorable wheat price prospects, double-cropping, and crop rotation benefits from growing wheat on land that has been in soybeans several years.

Twelve different wheat varieties were planted in test plots Oct. 3 on land farmed by Richard Bauer in Nameoki Township. New varieties in the plots this year are Oasis, Sentinel and Homestead.

Soybeans in variety test plots on land owned by Virgil Klueter and farmed by Wilfred Gvillo in Fort Russell Township were harvested Oct. 23. They were planted June 12.

Yield and moisture content of each variety were: Kent, 42.7 bushels per acre and 12.3 percent moisture; Cutler 71, 38.8 bu. and 12.5 moisture; Clark 68, 34.0 bu. and 12.3 moisture; Calland, 33.2 bu. and 12.5 moisture; and Wayne, 30.4 bu. and 12.7 moisture.

The variety, Bonus, yielded low due to a poor stand from low-germinating seed planted. Bonus was the highest yielding variety in the plots here a year ago.

Kent is a high yielding variety but matures later than most. Madison County farmers are willing to tolerate.

Assisting with the plots harvest were Eugene Aylward and Richard Borchers of Madison Service Co., Virgil Klueter, Wilfred Gvillo and Extension Advisers Dave Fischer and Warren Bundy.

The ten highest producing herds in Madison County Dairy Herd Improvement in September are owned by Mrs. Freda Linenbroeker, Darco Holstein Farm, Vernon Hills, Vernon Becker, Jim Beane, Willard Blase, Wilbur Federer, Marvin Stille, Manitou Inc., and Eugene Medford.

The herd of Mrs. Freda Linenbroeker was high for the month with 1.67 pounds of butterfat per cow per day.

November in Illinois century ago saw war threat subside

By 1873, the last Thursday in November had become established as the nation's Thanksgiving Day. Abraham Lincoln had first set the date ten years earlier.

How Illinois observed the day—Nov. 27—one hundred years ago can be traced in the microfilm collection of more than 110 newspapers of the period in the Illinois State Historical Library.

The papers show that the day was a business holiday, with special religious services, turkey dinners and theater matinees.

Although Lincoln was the first President to choose the November date, the record shows he had difficulty deciding.

Also, he was constantly being reminded of it by the editor of Gode's Lady's Book, Mrs. Sarah J. Hale. On Nov. 27, 1861, his first year as President, Lincoln ordered government offices closed the next day for a District of Columbia Thanksgiving day.

On Apr. 10, 1862, he proclaimed the following Sunday to be a day of Thanksgiving for recent military victories. On July 15, 1863, he named Aug. 6 as a similar Thanksgiving day. Then, in 1863 and again in 1864, Lincoln proclaimed "the last Thursday of November" as a day of Thanksgiving.

Most businesses were closed for Thanksgiving 1873. The Chicago Tribune published as usual and closed the plant for the afternoon.

Its three-column article under the heading "Thanksgiving" began, "Everyone will rise this morning with a consciousness that Thanksgiving Day is here at last."

"The first duty on awaking this morning will be to begin a mental cross-examination of ourselves, and to assume, a grateful frame of mind preparatory to making a catalogue of all the items for which we have reason to be thankful, whether we are or are not."

Among the "items" for which the writer was thankful were "that we received a good deal of good advice during the year; that we didn't follow it... that there won't be war with Spain."

"That though the times are hard, they might be harder; that we are all pretty hard up and won't be expected to give many Christmas presents... that there has not been a murder for a week... That the street car seats have been carpeted, and the floor strewn with hay to keep us warm; that Italian opera didn't come... that prices are falling like an incinerated bridge-tender on a slippery sidewalk."

The reference to "War with Spain" concerns what is known to historians as the "Virginian Affair"—the chief topic of national news that month.

The Virginian, which was registered as an American ship, was captured by a Spanish gunboat while carrying arms to Cuban rebels. The ship's captain and 36 men had been executed as "pirates" by the governor of Santiago (Cuba).

The negotiations that followed revealed that the ship was fraudulently registered and that it was owned by Cuban rebels.

Spain agreed to turn it over to the U.S. but it sank before it could reach port.

For 1873 Thanksgiving dinner, out of the Chicago restaurant, Paxton and Green's London Chop and Coffee House, advertised "Roast turkey, with cranberry sauce, vegetables, genuine English plum pudding and coffee" for 50 cents.

"During that week, dressed turkeys were selling in Springfield for 7 to 7 1/2 cents a pound."

Although few Illinoisans could have been aware of it at the time, the state's Civil War governor, Richard Yates, died at Barrum's Hotel in St. Louis on Thanksgiving Day 1873.

After his term as governor, Yates had served as a U.S. senator from Illinois (1867-71) and at the time of his death was returning from a trip to Arkansas where he had gone as a member of a federal commission to inspect a land-subsidy railroad.

Break ground Friday for student housing

Members of the Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees, Dr. John S. Rendleman, president of SIUE, and a representative of Consumers Ltd. of Chicago will participate in groundbreaking ceremonies Friday for additional campus housing for 1,000 single students.

The groundbreaking is set for 2 p.m. tomorrow at the construction site, across the road from the existing Tower Lake housing for students.

The $5.9 million project is being financed by revenue bonds sold to a syndicate headed by John Nuveen and Co. and Merrill Lynch.

Consumers Ltd. is the contractor on the turkey project. The SIUE Foundation at Edwardsville has a contract with Consumers for construction of the project. On completion, the project will be purchased from the Foundation by the university with proceeds from the revenue bonds.

The new housing will consist of 31 two-story buildings containing 224 two-bedroom units and 24 three-bedroom units, providing living accommodations for approximately 1,000 students.

A commons building with space for administrative offices, meeting rooms, lounge areas and a snack bar is included in the project.

State road crews ready for a long, cold winter

"Neither rain, nor sleet nor snow is an associated with the persistence of the American mailman. It also describes the effort of the familiar orange trucks to keep the roads safe and drivable—especially during the annual onslaught of winter storms. And one of their biggest weapons is salt."

"Spreading salt mixed with abrasive materials is about the best method we now know to control and save on the highways," explains a spokesman from the DOT.

"Our crews are continually trying to find new economically feasible materials that will do the job for us without possible danger to vegetation as well as motor vehicles and waterways."

About 300,000 tons of salt are used each year to keep roads and bridges open to traffic. That's a lot of salt, and the DOT is aware that too much salt can harm the environment. Therefore, maintenance crews use extreme caution in the use and storage of their salt.

For instance, most storage areas consist of buildings or covered bins which prevent runoff dangerous to adjacent land should there be rain or melting snow.

Distribution of salt by spreaders also is handled with caution. Spillage is taboo, and the equipment is regularly calibrated to insure an even distribution, respecting environmental preservation levels.

In addition, maintenance crews operating spreaders on state-maintained roads undergo extensive training year before the winter season.

The final test rests with the motorists. "Motorsists should always exercise special caution during the winter driving season, particularly when approaching bridges," the spokesman said.

"A thin coating of ice can develop almost instantly on wet roads even when the air temperature might be a few degrees above the freezing mark."

The state currently is testing several new materials which can be used in place of salt. Although more expensive, it is felt they have some advantages.

60% of banned signs are gone

About 60 per cent of all non-conforming, unregistered signs have been removed from Illinois highways—13,800 placards down with 12,000 to go as of late October.

It's being done in compliance with the Highway Advertising Control Act which is the basis for state legislation requiring removal of certain billboards.

Under the law, adopted July 1, 1972, all signs within 660 feet of a federal aid primary and interstate highways—except in business areas—must meet specific regulations as to size, lighting, placement and type. In business areas, other requirements are in effect.

All owners of signs which must come down and who met an earlier registration deadline will be compensated for their loss. It is the unbecoming signs which were not registered that are biting the dust.

"We've had very few complaints," Arch Blackard reports. An official of the Land Acquisition Division of the Illinois Transportation Department, he notes that about 25 per cent of the 13,800 signs were removed by the landowners themselves. Letters are sent to the owners 30 days prior to removal.

The next step will involve appraising non-conforming registered signs.

"Our staff personnel will begin appraising the registered signs which must come down," Blackard said. "We will take into consideration the cost of the sign new, plus add-ons, and then deduct the depreciation."

Funds for reimbursements must come out of the DOT's land acquisition budget. However, 75 per cent will be reimbursed from the Federal Highway Act for all signs not erected illegally under specifications outlined in the act.

"We will purchase the signs on a hardship basis," explained Blackard. "Any owner of a registered sign who would like to have his sign appraised soon should contact his district office. We will take the request on a first-come, first-served basis."

Endorse Nameoki park application

A plan by Madison County to establish a 42.3 acre park in Nameoki Township has received the endorsement of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council and the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission (SIMAPC).

In its endorsement, the Gateway staff report commented that the grant application "is consistent with statewide goals, objectives and policies and the areawide land-use plan."

The previously issued SIMAPC recommendation letter said the commission "wholeheartedly endorses the proposed project" and that it will help a need for additional public open spaces throughout the region.

The proposed park would be on the west side of Route 111 and north of the Georgetown subdivision of Pontoon Beach.

The property owned by Appellate Court Judge George Moran and a relative, has been reassessed at $4,000 to $5,000 per acre.

Total purchase price has been estimated at $200,000 with

Meet on year-round schools

The process of implementing a year-round school program will be simulated at the sixth annual Seminar on Year-Round Education to be sponsored by the Office of the Illinois Superintendent of Public Instruction in Chicago this spring. The seminar will be held April 30 through May 3. Ten sessions, each simulating a particular phase of installing a year-round school program, from preliminary stages through evaluation, will be presented.

The topics of the sessions will be dissemination of information, community survey, feasibility studies from educational and financial viewpoints, curriculum revision, student scheduling, staff inservice training, implementation, evaluation, and legislative needs.

Each topic will be presented by an authority in the field who will prepare a notebook to be used by the participants.

Four basic models for a year-round program will be considered—the 45-15 plan, and the trimester, quarter and trimester plans.

Under the 45-15 plan, students attend school for 45 days and then have 15 days off. The other three plans divide the year into, respectively, five, four, and three periods with different groups of students scheduled for vacations during different periods.

On the final day, panels will debate and answer questions concerning the impact of a year-round program on society.

Aim of the seminar is to lay a foundation from which any school district could develop a process for implementing a year-round program.

Educators, parents and others interested in year-round education from all over the country will be invited to attend.

OSP is sponsoring the seminar in cooperation with the National Council on Year-Round Education, formed in 1972 to serve as a clearinghouse for information and to provide assistance to school districts and individuals interested in year-round programs and in upgrading educational programs.

The Council has its national headquarters at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University at Blacksburg, Va.

Ceramic grant

Ceramic engineering scholarship students in the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign have increased to 36 this year from 29 a year ago. Prof. Arthur L. Friedberg, head of the UIUC department of ceramic engineering, reports.

Nineteen scholarships are from a general fund supported by the ceramic industry. Others are from grants by specific industries or gifts to the university. Most are awarded on a basis of scholarship and professional promise.

Tuition aid to middle income

Recognizing that many middle-income students do not qualify for government programs for student aid, McKendree College at Lebanon has established a fund for academic scholarships for students of middle-income families.

Students may receive as much as half their tuition through scholarship awards based solely on high school academic records.

There also are some endowed scholarships available. Further information on scholarships is available from the McKendree Admissions Office.

Students applying for any sort of financial aid must also apply to two government aid programs, the Illinois State Scholarship Commission and the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant Program.

Their monies are distributed solely on the basis of need, and are awarded to students from lower-income families.

When students apply to these two programs, their parents must submit financial statements. McKendree accepts either the American College Testing (ACT) or the College Scholastic Service (CSS) forms.

Both application and parents' financial statement forms are available from high school counselors.

McKendree also has a work-study program, through which students hold jobs on campus while going to school. Students also are placed in jobs in private businesses through the college.

Further information about the government aid programs and work-study programs is available from the McKendree Office of Financial Aid.

Rolling Stones keep rolling on "Goals Head Soup" doesn't exactly sound like something I'd care to eat but if you're in the mood for some real heady music it should hit the spot. The Rolling Stones, perhaps the world's premiere rock band, have demonstrated their unparalleled consistency once again with the release of this great album.

Rock fans always wait for anything new from the Stones, and this album is cause for celebration. It is the Stones playing as only they can, through the full range of their talents, from the bitter-sweet lament of "Angie" to the classic rocking "Dancing Queen," "Mr. D," and "Silver Train."

The release is on their own label and it coincides with the Stones' first television appearance in six years, on Don Kirshner's "Rock Concert." It's a must for all music fans.

perstar in so short a time and it's entitled simply "Bette Midler." She sings songs old and new, investing them all with the warmth and feeling that gives them new life and freshness, whether they are happy or tragic, camp or torch.

The album was produced by Arif Mardin and Bette's musical director, Barry Manilow. It's going to be a collector's item one day so pick it up soon.

Singing and talking in a tough, raspy yet tender style that is true to his unique presentation, Bobby Womack comes across just great on his new release "Facts of Life" on United Artists Records.

The album offers variety and easy listening. One of several well-done songs is one written by the late Sam Cooke entitled "That's Heaven to Me." Bobby sings the song in Cooke's style as a tribute to Sam. Other standouts are the title track, "All Along The Watchtower," "Natural Man," and a two-song medley, "Facts of Life" is a fine performance album.

In little over a year Bette Midler has become the most exciting new star of the 1970s. Her club and concert appearances are all SRO; she has a TV special in the offering, her first album on Atlantic records turned to gold. You can't ask for much more than that in such a short period of time.

Bette's new album is full of the magic that made her a su-

Nov. 18-25 set as Bible Week

A proclamation declaring the week of Nov. 18-25 as Bible Week was issued today by Mayor Paul Schuler. The observance here conforms with that of National Bible Week which will be observed throughout the country.

The proclamation, noting that "the nation's time-honored commitment to serve God and all mankind grew out of the teachings and inspiration of the Bible, urges Granite City residents of all faiths to observe the week by reading the Scriptures.
